ARGONAUT MINERS FOUND DEAD IN THE MINE

FIRE AND CAVEINS HELD 47 IMPRISONED AT JACKSON, CALIF.

The Little City, After Three Weeks of Waiting, Was Plunged Deeper Into Gloom as Realization of the Tragedy Grew Upon It

In Honeycomb of the Mine Shaft, a Mile Underground, a Rescue Squad is Toiling, Sewing Bodies of 47 Miners in Their Shrouds

By United Press

At the Argonaut Mine, Jackson, Calif., Sept. 19.—Jackson mourned its dead.

The little city, after three weeks of waiting, was plunged deeper and deeper into gloom as realization of the tragedy grew upon it.

"They got the 47" was the word whispered among the groups who remained on the street corner most of the night. It meant that the 47 miners, imprisoned by fire and caveins for three weeks had been found—all dead.

So great was the weight of the tragedy, so cruel the blow to hope, that the town seemed stunned. It moved listlessly at its work, while in the honeycomb of the mine shaft, a mile underground, a rescue squad started toiling, sewing the once vigorous and healthy bodies of the miners into 47 canvas shrouds.

Built Bulkheads

All the miners were found behind the second of two bulkheads they had built in a crosscut 4,350 feet down in the Argonaut mine. Byron M. Pickard, chief of the federal bureau of mines for this district, was the first man to go behind the bulkhead and discovered the bodies.

Pickard, on an earlier exploration behind the bulkhead, had counted 42 bodies and expressed the belief then that there were others there.

Note Scribbled

The note read as follows:
"3 a. m. Gas bad."

The same note bore a scrawled figure "four" apparently indicating the same man had attempted to leave word for those who might come after of the condition of the mine at that hour.

Bulkhead Described

Mine officials declared that the condition of the crosscut behind the bulkhead was such that life could not have been sustained there by the entombed men for more than five hours.

The bodies were found piled one on top of another and decomposition had progressed so far that identification would be impossible, Pickard reported.

Plan of Work

To prevent the flames spreading further, the main Argonaut shaft and an airshaft called the Muldoon, which goes down straight for 800 feet and then continues in the form of offset shafts until it connects with the lower Argonaut levels, were bulkheaded. The Muldoon shaft had a safety ladder in it but egress by this route would have taken hours under ordinary circumstances and with the air filled with gas, it could not be used.

Cool-headed Men

The mine officials said that the actions of the men, as evidenced by the bulkheads they built, and other matters, indicated they had died within five hours after being entombed.

The officials declared the mute evidence of the men's struggle showed they were 47 of the most cool-headed men imaginable.

Removed Clothing

Sixteen of the entrapped miners removed their clothing to provide material for stuffing the cracks in the wooden barrier, hastily constructed, which was found early in the evening.

Then another barrier was built of rock, earth and debris. However, the gas and fumes from the fire apparently seeped through the first bulkhead and the men fled from the site where they were building the second one, to start a third farther on.

Gas Death Dealing

This third attempt to wall off the death-dealing gas was made at the end of the 435-foot crosscut in the Argonaut, but the fact that only a bare start was made at it proved, the mine officials said that the deadly carbon monoxide and the suffocating carbon dioxide had reached it and performed their fatal offices before the 47 unfortunates could raise even an excuse for a barrier.

Painless Death

Mine officials said that death had come to the entombed men painlessly. The gases, they said, would produce first a lethargy, then a coma, and finally, death.

Jackson as a whole took the tragic news calmly and courageously. The general topic of conversation, except in the immediate family circles of the dead, was arrangements for the funerals which, it was believed, would be a joint affair.

Jackson takes its greatest tragedy in silence. After the first hasty news that 42 men had been found dead in the Argonaut mine, crowds flowed from homes, stores and hotels. Small groups gathered on the sidewalks and discussed the possibility that some, at least, of the five others who had been entombed since Aug. 27, were alive.

But news came soon that all the men were dead and the little hope still held by wives, mothers, fathers, sisters and sweethearts vanished. Knots of people gathered and gave or received news of this or that dear one who had met fate bravely and been overcome.

Wheat Up 3 to 5 Cents In Minneapolis Trading

Minneapolis, Sept. 19.—Hovering war clouds in Europe sent wheat skyward in Minneapolis yesterday, the trading floor of the Chamber of Commerce taking on the appearance of the days of 1914. Wheat registered gains of from 3 to 5 cents.

September wheat opened at $1.05, advanced under spirited bidding to $1.08½, then relaxed, closing at $1.06½. The opening mark was low.

December wheat registered the largest advance. Opening at $1.03½, it jumped to $1.08½, then fell to $1.06½.

May wheat jumped from $1.07½ to $1.11½, closing off at $1.10.

MUSTAPHA KEMAL ON MARCH TOWARDS DARDANELLES AND CONSTANTINOPLE

(By United Press)

Constantinople, Sept. 19.—Mustapha Kemal's march toward the Dardanelles and Constantinople is reported to have started.

The Turkish commander, according to these reports, is moving troops from Smyrna toward the Bosphorus which lies between Constantinople and the Asian mainland and the Dardanelles where the British are entrenched.

There is no official verification of these rumors. Kemal's cavalry patrolled in the vicinity of Chanak which commands the entrance to the neutral zone to the Dardanelles as the royal Suffez regiment landed to reinforce the British who were already in the trenches.

The Kemalists have made no attempt yet to cross into the neutral zone. Colonel Shuttalworth, in command of the district, expressed confidence in his ability to repulse any forces Mustapha Kemal would be able to concentrate within the next few days.

Hopes to Take Adrianople

Athens, Sept. 19.—Mustapha Kemal, aided by "divine will," hopes to take Adrianople within a fortnight.

Adrianople is in Europe, northwest of Constantinople.

During a banquet here, Kemal was toasted for his Smyrna victories to which he responded:

"By divine will I am able to respond to the toast. I hope within a fortnight to have the privilege of responding to a similar toast at Adrianople, and even farther afield."

Italy Withdraws Troops From Neutral Zone

Rome, Sept. 19.—The Italian government has decided to withdraw its Near East troops from the neutral zone of Constantinople, the newspaper "Messaggero" stated today.

Newfoundland Supports English Policy

London, Sept. 19.—Premier Lloyd George today received the promise of full support of Newfoundland to his Near East policy.

A cable from the acting premier of Newfoundland in which he sympathized with the imperial position, stated: "Believe as in the past, that Newfoundland will render all the assistance available."

French Take No Action Against Kemal

Paris, Sept. 19.—The French government today decided to take no military action against the Kemalists in the Near East. Premier Poincare received the solid backing of his government in his policy of non-participation in military moves to forestall Mustapha Kemal's threatened invasion of the neutral zone, it was announced.

The French government, it is stated, will maintain its present policy and attempt to secure peace in the Near East.

The action of the French cabinet, which met in extraordinary session in Elysee Palace, the residence of President Millerand, means that England must act alone if she wishes to use force against Kemal.

Italy has already semi-officially stated that she is not in a position to grant military aid, and so have most of the Balkan states who are known to be friendly to the allied cause. Aid has been promptly offered, however, by several of Britain's dominions.

Nintchitch, foreign minister of Jugoslavia, has informed Premier Poincare that Serbia will not object to seizure by Kemal of Thrace, including Adrianople, it was reliably reported here.

British Government Determined

London, Sept. 19.—The British government is determined to go through with its program of defending the Dardanelles neutral zone against the Turks, and is not "bluffing" when it says every resource of the empire will be pitted against Kemal.

This was made plain today in a communication issued from Downing street during the meeting of the cabinet, while word was coming in that the French and Italians will not fight.

Meeting insinuations in the press that this government is "merely rattling the saber," it was announced today that the call in which the domains were called on to defend the neutral zone is actually official, and leaves the empire in no doubt as to the government's aim.

Greek Troops Mutiny

Paris, Sept. 19.—Greek troops in Thrace have mutinied and seized trains and are returning homeward, according to a news agency dispatch received here from Belgrade today.

Londoners are Excited

London, Sept. 19.—Officials of the foreign office refused to confirm or discuss the alleged note from Kemal, the unofficial verification of which is that Kemal stated he will not enter Constantinople.

Shopmen's Side of Controversy As Given by Publicity Committee

STRIKE BULLETIN

The predictions, and hopes of the railway executives have fallen flat. Their attempts to blisphemy and frighten our members have failed. None of the injunctions have repaired cars or locomotives. The Daugherty injunction has roused the spirit and determination of all the brothers to a higher pitch than before. We know now that our fight is for freedom of speech and action as well as for the preservation of our organizations and our standards of living.

The quickness and form of settlement of any fight are determined by the weapons used, the circumstances and the morale of the parties. Toward the end, the morale of the parties becomes especially important.

Everything favors us. All signs give us courage. The above evidence in our favor are only small samples. We can be more cheerful in spite of hardships than the railroad managements can. We know our cause is greater than theirs. We have more of justice and public sympathy with us,—not the fake public opinion of the newspapers, but the real public opinion that gives us food, subscribes to relief funds, and extends us credit. Our unity is increasing. There is decreasing. Our leaders have not made the mistakes and wrong estimates that theirs have. We do not have the handicaps of having to save our faces and explain away public misstatements.

This is a very great struggle. Your spirit and unity have made it great. Great struggles are never easy. A fight is never won till the end, and the last part of the last round is the time when understanding, spirit, courage, grit, determination, and obstinacy count tremendously.

Just how much longer we will have to fight to reach victory is not clear. It had to last a certain time because equipment does not all break down immediately. But the power down immediately. But the power of the strike cannot be resisted. We are winning and we know it. They are losing and they know it. Hold hard and fast so as not only to make the settlement strong and right but also to lay the foundation for future progress.

Editorial Comments on the Daugherty Injunction

(New York Times, Sept. 4, 1922)

As a result of the argument, the injunction may not be made permanent; more probably it may be seriously modified. It is already intimated from Washington that the Attorney General himself will ask for alterations. He may move to strike out certain parts that are apparently not warranted by Federal law or are in conflict with it, and to omit provisions that, whether legally justified or not, are manifestly absurd and incapable of execution.

Mr. Daugherty's action has raised more doubts than it has laid, and has left the country more puzzled than before regarding the motive and purpose of the Administration. If a gigantic labor conspiracy began plotting early in July to throttle the government, why did the government wait till the end of August before attacking it?

If the idea was to help railway executives, they have made it sufficiently plain that they did not desire this particular kind of help, and are embarrassed by it rather than pleased. Was the plan to rally an enthusiastic sentiment in Congress? If so, it has dismally failed. Senators and Representatives, even of the Administration party, are significantly tongue-tied. It is evident that they share the general wonder why this thing was done just in this way at just this time. A great stroke by the government in a public crisis ought to be palpably wise as well as bold. But it is apparent that the wisdom of the Attorney General, in moving so unexpectedly and so bafflingly as he did, is gravely doubted by a multitude of sober citizens.

(New York World, Sept. 5, 1922)

"A Guardian for Daugherty"

This is not only a denial of the ordinary rights of free speech and free discussion but it is a denial of the right to strike at all, since it prohibits all the orderly and legitimate processes by which a strike can be carried on or a settlement can be reached.

Should the Attorney General succeed in persuading the court to make his injunction permanent, he would have enacted the most revolutionary industrial law that has ever been suggested in the United States. This legislative authority would have been automatically transferred from Congress to Harry Daugherty, who would thereby become one of the three coordinate branches of the government of the United States.

SEPTEMBER, OCTOBER GLORIOUS MONTHS OF THE WHOLE YEAR

CAMPAIGN INAUGURATED BY BRAINERD DISPATCH AND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

JOURNAL TRAVEL AND RESORT BUREAU GIVES IT FURTHER PUBLICITY SEPT. 18

Under large headlines in the issue of September 18, the Minneapolis Journal gives publicity to the extension of the tourist season, as advocated at the Chamber of Commerce by the chairman of the publicity committee.

The Minneapolis Travel and Resort Bureau is maintained by the Minneapolis Journal to encourage the growth of Minnesota as a summer playground. It furnishes, without charge, information required by tourists. The Journal Travel and Resort Bureau, 53 Fourth street south, adjoins the main building. It is managed by Perry S. Williams.

Here is the heading on the Sept. 18 article: "Brainerd Paper Formally Inaugurates Campaign—Many Resorts Remaining Open for Late Vacationist and Hunter."

"Determined efforts to extend the Minnesota tourist season into September and October, which residents know to be among the most attractive of the year out of doors, are being advocated in various sections of Minnesota. The Brainerd Daily Dispatch has formally inaugurated a campaign in behalf of the section."

"From its inception, the Journal Travel and Resort Bureau has advocated the lengthening of the tourist season, not only into the fall, but also earlier in the spring. Minnesota has an excellent opportunity as well to develop winter sports and to become known throughout the nation as having several mountain sections in the east."

"The Brainerd Dispatch is seeking, through its campaign, to arouse the entire section it reaches. Resorts are being importuned to make arrangements for visitors in chilly weather and it is planned to make the entire Brainerd district run full tilt through September and October."

The Chamber of Commerce authorized the Dispatch to collect a fund of $50 to advertise hunting and fishing opportunities in the Brainerd lake region during September and October. Ads have appeared in the Minneapolis Journal and locally and will be spread out further as the fund increases. To date $15 has been collected, being $5 from W. H.

PRESIDENT IN MESSAGE TO CONGRESS EXPLAINS VETO OF THE BONUS BILL

Washington, Sept. 19.—President Harding completed a long message to congress vetoing the $4,000,000,000 bonus bill.

The message was to be sent to the body late this afternoon.

Hardings message was about 2500 words, it was learned, and was described by senators who called at the White House today as vigorous.

Awaiting official word from the executive, bonus advocates made a final drive to line up sufficient votes to override the veto. They learned, it was admitted, that they faced almost certain defeat.

An eleventh hour poll, it was said, showed that 34 senators, one more than required, have voted to sustain a veto. Tremendous efforts were being made today to get several of these senators to change their minds, but none showed any signs of weakening. There was no doubt but that the house would pass the bill over the veto.

RAILWAY SHOPMEN RETURN TO JOBS IN 3 TWIN CITY PLANTS

RESUMPTION OF WORK UNMARRIED BY DISTURBANCE

Minneapolis, Sept. 19.—Striking railway shopmen who left shops and roundhouses of the Omaha, North Western and Milwaukee roads in the walkout of July 1 began their return to work today under the Chicago agreement, with 80 per cent of the men who went out from twin city shops of the Omaha and North Western reported by strike leaders as re-employed, and from 900 to 1,000 back at work in Milwaukee shops.

There was no disturbance at any of the shops, and old and new men began work side by side with no apparent friction, officials of the railroads and of the strikers said.

"The men are going back to work without any difficulties reported from any of the shops," R. A. Henning, chairman of the northwest federated shopcrafts, said.

The Milwaukee still has from 500 to 600 men out of twin city shops, J. H. Foster, general superintendent for the northern division, said.

"All of those who are still out will be back at work within 10 days," Mr. Foster said. "We can take care of all of them. The day the strike was called, we had received authority to increase our forces by about 600 men. Those men never went to work. So we have room for all the new and old men, and will go ahead toward capacity with no friction or trouble of any kind."

The road employed about 900 new men through the strike, and will retain all of them, Mr. Foster said.

Organization of an employees association to replace the shopcrafts unions as a means by which employees may bring requests and grievances to the attention of railway officials, and is necessary to the railway labor board, began yesterday on the Great Northern when representatives of shop employees met in the Great Northern offices in St. Paul to form a new agreement between the workers and executives of the company.

The company no longer recognizes the old union of shopmen, Ralph Budd, president, said. Instead the organization is to be made up of those who did not go out in the walkout of July 1 and of men who have come in to fill the place of strikers.

"We have not recognized the existence of the union since July 1," Mr. Budd said. "This new organization will have spokesmen who can come to the rail officials at any time, and who can, if they are not satisfied with action of executives go before the railway labor board as a court of last resort."

G. N. 85 Per cent Normal
The Great Northern has 85 per cent normal employment in shops and roundhouses, and the men, by working longer hours than under ordinary conditions, have brought production practically to normal he said.

Mr. Henning declared that the call for a meeting of Great Northern employees was an attempt to deceive the men and to "scare the strikers into line." The railroad is using an order of the railway labor board, authorizing the ways to form new shop-

DRIVER BLAMES IT ALL ON DETOUR

(By United Press)

Brainerd people have gotten mixed up in the detour at Roy-alton, but no one ever landed in Minneapolis, in trying to de-tour from Roy-alton to Little Falls

Minneapolis, Sept. 19.—Four girls brought to Minneapolis yesterday morning from Little Falls, returned to their homes today after making a kidnapping charge against John Kraus.

Kraus is held in Minneapolis jail on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

The girls, Evangeline Hunt, 17; Mary Kullis, 15; Alvina Clyona, 15, all of Little Falls and Frances York, 17, of Roy-alton, went to a dance at Little Falls.

When ready to go home Kraus offered to take them. Police say his intentions were all right, but in making a detour, he got on the wrong road, and ended in Minneapolis.

MULTITONE MFG. CO. AFFAIRS PROBED

FINANCIAL STATUS BROUGHT OUT IN SAILSTAD-RICH- ARDSON CASE

(By United Press)
Superior, Wis., Sept. 19.—The financial status of the Multitone Manufacturing company of Eau Claire was in a precarious condition just before the disappearance of Edward J. Sailstad, president of the concern, it was revealed here during the sixth session of the suit of Mrs. Leona Sailstad-Richardson for $10,000 in insurance carried by her husband, who, it is alleged, perished in the fire which destroyed his cottage on Lake Nebagamon August 6, 1920.

For the first time during the suit, upon which largely hangs the outcome of five additional suits for $67,300, Federal Judge Luse was compelled to warn spectators against demonstrations.

Former employees and officials of the company were called upon to testify for the defense during the afternoon session.

John Sproul, Eau Claire accountant, called by the defense council, stated that he made the financial report referred to in the suit, and that he obtained the figures with the exception of goods in progress of manufacture and overhead expenses from the company books.

ARGONAUT MINERS FOUND DEAD IN THE MINE

FIRE AND CAVEINS HELD 47 IMPRISONED AT JACKSON, CALIF.

The Little City, After Three Weeks of Waiting, Was Plunged Deeper Into Gloom as Realization of the Tragedy Grew Upon It

In Honeycomb of the Mine Shaft, a Mile Underground, a Rescue Squad is Toiling, Sewing Bodies of 47 Miners in Their Shrouds

By United Press

At the Argonaut Mine, Jackson, Calif., Sept. 19.—Jackson mourned its dead.

The little city, after three weeks of waiting, was plunged deeper and deeper into gloom as realization of the tragedy grew upon it.

"They got the 47" was the word whispered among the groups who remained on the street corner most of the night. It meant that the 47 miners, imprisoned by fire and caveins for three weeks had been found—all dead.

So great was the weight of the tragedy, so cruel the blow to hope, that the town seemed stunned. It moved listlessly at its work, while in the honeycomb of the mine shaft, a mile underground, a rescue squad started toiling, sewing the once vigorous and healthy bodies of the miners into 47 canvas shrouds.

Built Bulkheads

All the miners were found behind the second of two bulkheads they had built in a crosscut 4,350 feet down in the Argonaut mine. Byron M. Pickard, chief of the federal bureau of mines for this district, was the first man to go behind the bulkhead and discovered the bodies.

Pickard, on an earlier exploration behind the bulkhead, had counted 42 bodies and expressed the belief then that there were others there.

Note Scribbled

The note read as follows: "3 a. m. Gas bad." The same note bore a scrawled figure "four" apparently indicating the same man had attempted to leave word for those who might come after of the condition of the mine at that hour.

Bulkhead Described

Mine officials declared that the condition of the crosscut behind the bulkhead was such that life could not have been sustained there by the entombed men for more than five hours.

The bodies were found piled one on top of another and decomposition had progressed so far that identification would be impossible, Pickard reported.

Plan of Work

To prevent the flames spreading further, the main Argonaut shaft and an airshaft called the Muldoon, which goes down straight for 800 feet and then continues in the form of offset shafts until it connects with the lower Argonaut levels, were bulkheaded. The Muldoon shaft had a safety ladder in it but egress by this route would have taken hours under ordinary circumstances and with the air filled with gas, it could not be used.

Cool-headed Men

The mine officials said that the actions of the men, as evidenced by the bulkheads they built, and other matters, indicated they had died within five hours after being entombed.

The officials declared the mute evidence of the men's struggle showed they were 47 of the most cool-headed men imaginable.

Removed Clothing

Sixteen of the entrapped miners removed their clothing to provide material for stuffing the cracks in the wooden barrier, hastily constructed, which was found early in the evening.

Then another barrier was built of rock, earth and debris. However, the gas and fumes from the fire apparently seeped through the first bulkhead and the men fled from the site where they were building the second one, to start a third farther on.

Gas Death Dealing

This third attempt to wall off the death-dealing gas was made at the end of the 435-foot crosscut in the Argonaut, but the fact that only a bare start was made at it proved, the mine officials said, that the deadly carbon monoxide and the suffocating carbon dioxide had reached it and performed their fatal offices before the 47 unfortunates could raise even an excuse for a barrier.

Painless Death

Mine officials said that death had come to the entombed men painlessly. The gases, they said, would produce first a lethargy, then a coma, and finally, death.

Jackson as a whole took the tragic news calmly and courageously. The general topic of conversation, except in the immediate family circles of the dead, was arrangements for the funerals which, it was believed, would be a joint affair.

Jackson takes its greatest tragedy in silence. After the first hasty news that 42 men had been found dead in the Argonaut mine, crowds flowed from homes, stores and hotels. Small groups gathered on the sidewalks and discussed the possibility that some, at least, of the five others who had been entombed since Aug. 27, were alive.

But news came soon that all the men were dead and the little hope still held by wives, mothers, fathers, sisters and sweethearts vanished. Knots of people gathered and gave or received news of this or that dear one who had met fate bravely and been overcome.

MUSTAPHA KEMAL ON MARCH TOWARDS DARDANELLES AND CONSTANTINOPLE

(By United Press)

Constantinople, Sept. 19.—Mustapha Kemal's march toward the Dardanelles and Constantinople is reported to have started.

The Turkish commander, according to these reports, is moving troops from Smyrna toward the Bosphorus which lies between Constantinople and the Asian mainland and the Dardanelles where the British are entrenched.

There is no official verification of these rumors. Kemal's cavalry patrolled in the vicinity of Chanak which commands the entrance to the neutral zone to the Dardanelles as the royal Suffez regiment landed to reinforce the British who were already in the trenches.

The Kemalists have made no attempt yet to cross into the neutral zone. Colonel Shuttalworth, in command of the district, expressed confidence in his ability to repulse any forces Mustapha Kemal would be able to concentrate within the next few days.

Hopes to Take Adrianople

Athens, Sept. 19.—Mustapha Kemal, aided by "divine will," hopes to take Adrianople within a fortnight.

Adrianople is in Europe, northwest of Constantinople.

During a banquet here, Kemal was toasted for his Smyrna victories to which he responded:

"By divine will I am able to respond to the toast. I hope within a fortnight to have the privilege of responding to a similar toast at Adrianople, and even farther afield."

French Take No Action Against Kemal

Paris, Sept. 19.—The French government today decided to take no military action against the Kemalists in the Near East. Premier Poincare received the solid backing of his government in his policy of non-participation in military moves to forestall Mustapha Kemal's threatened invasion of the neutral zone, it was announced.

The French government, it is stated, will maintain its present policy and attempt to secure peace in the Near East.

The action of the French cabinet, which met in extraordinary session in Elysee Palace, the residence of President Millerand, means that England must act alone if she wishes to use force against Kemal.

Italy has already semi-officially stated that she is not in a position to grant military aid, and so have most of the Balkan states who are known to be friendly to the allied cause. Aid has been promptly offered, however, by several of Britain's dominions.

Nintchitch, foreign minister of Jugoslavia, has informed Premier Poincare that Serbia will not object to seizure by Kemal of Thrace, including Adrianople, it was reliably reported here.

British Government Determined

London, Sept. 19.—The British government is determined to go through with its program of defending the Dardanelles neutral zone against the Turks, and is not "bluffing" when it says every resource of the empire will be pitted against Kemal.

This was made plain today in a communication issued from Downing street during the meeting of the cabinet, while word was coming in that the French and Italians will not fight. Meeting insinuations in the press that this government is "merely rattling the saber," it was announced today that the call in which the domains were called on to defend the neutral zone is actually official, and leaves the empire in no doubt as to the government's aim.

This is not only a denial of the ordinary rights of free speech and free discussion but it is a denial of the right to strike at all, since it prohibits all the orderly and legitimate processes by which a strike can be carried on or a settlement can be reached.

Should the Attorney General succeed in persuading the court to make his injunction permanent, he would have enacted the most revolutionary industrial law that has ever been suggested in the United States. This legislative authority would have been automatically transferred from Congress to Harry Daugherty, who would thereby become one of the three coordinate branches of the government of the United States.

SEPTEMBER, OCTOBER GLORIOUS MONTHS OF THE WHOLE YEAR

CAMPAIGN INAUGURATED BY BRAINERD DISPATCH AND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

JOURNAL TRAVEL AND RESORT BUREAU GIVES IT FURTHER PUBLICITY SEPT. 18

Under large headlines in the issue of September 18, the Minneapolis Journal gives publicity to the extension of the tourist season, as advocated at the Chamber of Commerce by the chairman of the publicity committee.

The Minneapolis Travel and Resort Bureau is maintained by the Minneapolis Journal to encourage the growth of Minnesota as a summer playground. It furnishes, without charge, information required by tourists. The Journal Travel and Resort Bureau, 53 Fourth street south, adjoins the main building. It is managed by Perry S. Williams.

Here is the heading on the Sept. 18 article: "Brainerd Paper Formally Inaugurates Campaign—Many Resorts Remaining Open for Late Vacationist and Hunter."

"Determined efforts to extend the Minnesota tourist season into September and October, which residents know to be among the most attractive of the year out of doors, are being advocated in various sections of Minnesota. The Brainerd Daily Dispatch has formally inaugurated a campaign in behalf of the section."

"From its inception, the Journal Travel and Resort Bureau has advocated the lengthening of the tourist season, not only into the fall, but also earlier in the spring. Minnesota has an excellent opportunity as well to develop winter sports and to become known throughout the nation as have several mountain sections in the east."

"The Brainerd Dispatch is seeking, through its campaign, to arouse the entire section to make arrangements for visitors in chilly weather and it is planned to make the entire Brainerd district run full tilt through September and October."

The Chamber of Commerce authorized the Dispatch to collect a fund of $50 to advertise hunting and fishing opportunities in the Brainerd lake region during September and October. Ads have appeared in the Minneapolis Journal and locally and will be spread out further as the fund increases. To date $15 has been collected, being $5 from W. H.

PRESIDENT IN MESSAGE TO CONGRESS EXPLAINS VETO OF THE BONUS BILL

Washington, Sept. 19.—President Harding completed a long message to congress vetoing the $4,000,000,000 bonus bill.

The message was to be sent to the body late this afternoon.

Hardings message was about 2500 words, it was learned, and was described by senators who called at the White House today as vigorous.

Awaiting official word from the executive, bonus advocates made a final drive to line up sufficient votes to override the veto. They learned, it was admitted, that they faced almost certain defeat.

An eleventh hour poll, it was said, showed that 34 senators, one more than required, have voted to sustain a veto. Tremendous efforts were being made today to get several of these senators to change their minds, but none showed any signs of weakening. There was no doubt but that the house would pass the bill over the veto.

Clearly, $5 from Perry Hardware Co. and $5 from the First National bank of Brainerd. Make your donations to the Brainerd Dispatch and they will be published.

Here is the copy of the ad being run: "September and October. Glorious months for hunting and fishing. Best for touring. Come to Brainerd Lake Region. Low rates at resorts and cottages. Address Chamber of Commerce, Brainerd, Minn."

DRIVER BLAMES IT ALL ON DETOUR

(By United Press)

Brainerd people have gotten mixed up in the detour at Roy-alton, but no one ever landed in Minneapolis, in trying to de-tour from Roy-alton to Little Falls.

Minneapolis, Sept. 19.—Four girls brought to Minneapolis yesterday morning from Little Falls, returned to their homes today after making a kidnapping charge against John Kraus.

Kraus is held in Minneapolis jail on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

The girls, Evangeline Hunt, 17; Mary Kullis, 15; Alvina Clyona, 15, all of Little Falls and Frances York, 17, of Roy-alton, went to a dance at Little Falls.

When ready to go home Kraus offered to take them. Police say his intentions were all right, but in making a detour, he got on the wrong road, and ended in Minneapolis.

MULTITONE MFG. CO. AFFAIRS PROBED

FINANCIAL STATUS BROUGHT OUT IN SALTSTAD-RICH- ARDSON CASE

(By United Press) Superior, Wis., Sept. 19.—The financial status of the Multitone Manufacturing company of Eau Claire was in a precarious condition just before the disappearance of Edward J. Saltstad, president of the concern, it was revealed here during the sixth session of the suit of Mrs. Leona Saltstad-Richardson for $10,000 in insurance carried by her husband, who, it is alleged, perished in the fire which destroyed his cottage on Lake Nebagamon August 6, 1920.

For the first time during the suit, upon which largely hangs the outcome of five additional suits for $67-300, Federal Judge Luse was compelled to warn spectators against demonstrations.

Former employees and officials of the company were called upon to testify for the defense during the afternoon session.

John Sproul, Eau Claire accountant, called by the defense council, stated that he made the financial report referred to in the suit, and that he obtained the figures with the exception of goods in progress of manufacture and overhead expenses from the company books.

Williston, N. D., Sept. 19.—Gerald Allickson, 15, was accidentally shot to death while preparing to go duck hunting.

RAILWAY SHOPMEN RETURN TO JOBS IN 3 TWIN CITY PLANTS

RESUMPTION OF WORK UNMAR- RED BY DISTURBANCE

Minneapolis, Sept. 19.—Striking railway shopmen who left shops and roundhouses of the Omaha, North Western and Milwaukee roads in the walkout of July 1 began their return to work today under the Chicago agreement, with 80 per cent of the men who went out from twin city shops of the Omaha and North Western reported by strike leaders as re-employed, and from 900 to 1,000 back at work in Milwaukee shops.

There was no disturbance at any of the shops, and old and new men began work side by side with no apparent friction, officials of the railroads and of the strikers said.

"The men are going back to work without any difficulties reported from any of the shops," R. A. Henning, chairman of the northwest federated shopcrafts, said.

The Milwaukee still has from 500 to 600 men out of twin city shops, J. H. Foster, general superintendent for the northern division, said.

"All of those who are still out will be back at work within 10 days," Mr. Foster said. "We can take care of all of them. The day the strike was called, we had received authority to increase our forces by about 600 men. Those men never went to work. So we have room for all the new and old men, and will go ahead toward capacity with no friction or trouble of any kind."

The road employed about 900 new men through the strike, and will retain all of them, Mr. Foster said.

Organization of an employees association to replace the shopcrafts unions as a means by which employees may bring requests and grievances to the attention of railway officials, and is necessary to the railway labor board, began yesterday on the Great Northern when representatives of shop employees met in the Great Northern offices in St. Paul to form a new agreement between the workers and executives of the company.

The company no longer recognizes the old union of shopmen, Ralph Budd, president, said. Instead the organization is to be made up of those who did not go out in the walkout of July 1 and of men who have come in to fill the place of strikers.

"We have not recognized the existence of the union since July 1," Mr. Budd said. "This new organization will have spokesmen who can come to the rail officials at any time, and who can, if they are not satisfied with action of executives go before the railway labor board as a court of last resort."

G. N. 85 Per cent Normal The Great Northern has 85 per cent normal employment in shops and roundhouses, and the men, by working longer hours than under ordinary conditions, have brought production practically to normal he said. Mr. Henning declared that the call for a meeting of Great Northern employees was an attempt to deceive the line. The railroad is using an order of the railway labor board, authorizing railways to form new shop-

TWIN CITIES IN CROW WING COUNTY

Should be Located 10 Miles Southwest of Brainerd to be Ideal Hub of Population

OF GOVERNMENT' INDUSTRY

In Short, Says Minneapolis Sunday Tribune, St. Paul and Minneapolis Ought to be in Brainerd

"Washington, D. C. in Kansas and Twin Cities in Crow Wing County—That's the Way it Ought to Be," says a four columned head line in the Minneapolis Tribune of Sunday, Sept. 17 and under an airplane picture of Brainerd the paper further states: Ten miles southwest of Brainerd lies the geographical center of Minnesota, the United States geographical survey reports. The ideal hub of population, government and industry should be at the geographical center," thinks the survey—and that let's the Twin Cities out in Minnesota.

St. Paul and Minneapolis ought to be in Brainerd!

No this is not the feverish dream of a proud resident of that town. It is instead the serious belief of that staid body, the United States Geological survey.

But the Twin Cities do not need to feel picked on at all, Washington, D. C., should be out in Smith county, northern Kansas; Boston, which has always prided itself on being the "Hub of the Universe," has no shadow of a claim to being the hub even of its own state.

The trouble is that the survey has come to the conclusion that capitals and largest cities should be situated at the geographical centers of the nation, state or county in which they are built. "The ideal hub of population, government and industry should be at the geographical center," is the way one member of the survey puts the matter.

Minnesota's Predicament
And this makes it even worse for Minnesota. Obeying this suggestion, the state should pick up St. Anthony falls and carry it along, apron and all, to run the mills in Brainerd. For does not the survey say that the center of industry should be where the geographic center is? And the falls have created a good share of Minnesota industries. And Brainerd is the geographic center as the survey sternly insists—or to be exact, little Crow Wing, 10 miles southwest of Brainerd.

St. Anthony falls has done some ambitious traveling in its day. But it's a slow hiker that takes a hundred years or thereabouts to the foot or progress. Brainerd would hardly be benefited in this generation. And besides another hundred feet and the falls would commit suicide, say the geologists who have studied the question and know the falls as a press agent knows the actress whose fame he pushes.

No help for it. Brainerd will have to put up with the unscientific hand dealt it by natural development, and the Twin Cities, in defiance of the dictum of the survey, will have to remain in their present situation.

There is a delightful tang to the thought that Washington, the seat of government and the home of Congress, should move to Smith county, Kansas. Loading the Capitol, the White House and other important buildings onto gigantic prairie schooners blazoned with the slogan, "Westward Ho or Bust"—the picture can be imagined. A pageant with a thousand miles or so to progress is a happy idea; it could be accompanied by prominent Middle Westerners attired as Indians and Drs. Kennicott, yelling their simple faith in their West and jeering at the Easterners who would follow in the wake of the procession as mourners. Greenwich villagers, their Bakst trousers and bloomers in Bakst colorings swathed in voluminous black, would dance the dance of "Wicked Triumph of the Obvious."

Of course science did not actually say Smith county, Kansas. Anything so simple as that could have no place in scientific nomenclature. What they actually said was that the center of the United States, geographically speaking, was at exactly 39 degrees 50 minutes north latitude and 98 degrees 35 minutes west longitude. That place as figured out by a plain but intelligent man happened to be in Smith county.

Certain members of the survey chuckled over the downfall of Boston, actuated perhaps by a certain grudge that exists between literature and science. "Boston as a Hub," said one of the survey, "doesn't amount to a row of pins. It is the center of nothing. As a hub it is less than zero."

But the Twin Cities, which ought to be in Brainerd, can extend a sympathetic hand to Boston. Out of place cities cannot afford to jeer at one another.

BARROWS FARM BUREAU

Unit Holds Its Regular Meeting at Town Hall on Wednesday Evening, September 20th

The Crow Wing Farm Bureau Unit holds its regular meeting in the town hall at Barrows Wednesday evening, September 20th.

A special committee from this unit came to Brainerd Sunday for the express purpose of extending an invitation to Brainerd Business men and the different civic organizations to attend this meeting.

President W. A. Erickson, of the Lions club, is making plans to have the club attend in a body, going to Barrows directly after the weekly luncheon.

A very good program has been prepared and the Brainerd guests are promised a most enjoyable evening. Walter F. Wieland is expected to give a talk and the Knutt quartette from the Chamber of Commerce will furnish the music assisted by the Lions orchestra.

Business men will do well to avail themselves of opportunities such as this to meet with the farmers and get into closer touch with them. Mutual problems could be threshed out and a better understanding reached between merchant and farmer.

Ludke-Swanson

An out-of-town wedding of interest to Brainerd people was solemnized last Thursday noon at the parsonage of the Emanuel Lutheran church in St. Paul, in which Miss Mae Emilie Ludke of Amery, Wisconsin, became the bride of Dr. Edwin Oscar Swanson of St. Paul, formerly of this city.

The service was read by the Reverend Hugo Thorene, at one time pastor of the Clara Lutheran church of Brainerd. Immediately after the ceremony a dinner was served to the wedding party at the Saint Paul hotel.

The bride was attired in a midnight blue crepe-back satin gown, wearing a corsage of roses, lilies of the valley and lavender. The groom wore the conventional black. Those present were Dr. J. A. Swanson, William Swanson, Miss Mabel Swanson, Mrs. Arvid Elmgren, of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Swanson of Brainerd relatives of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, sister and brother-in-law of the bride.

After a short trip to the northern part of the state, Mr. and Mrs. Swanson will be at home in St. Paul, where the doctor enjoys a good practice.

REBEKAHS OBSERVE 77TH ANNIVERSARY

Great preparations are being made by Florence Rebekah Lodge for the celebration of the 77th anniversary of the founding of the order, on Wednesday evening of this week.

An excellent program has been arranged consisting of musical numbers and talks. O. J. Bouma will make the address of the evening.

Following the program light refreshments will be served, and the balance of the evening turned over to dancing.

The lodges at Ironton, Deerwood and Aitkin have been invited to attend and a big turnout is expected.

Florence Rebekah lodge went in force to Ironton Monday night, where the members participated in a similar celebration with the Ironton lodge. A very fine program and a most enjoyable evening was reported.

DEERWOOD

The August Elling farm at Farm Island Lake marketed a load of poultry in town.

Mrs. M. Ness has returned to Madison to resume her duties at the Lutheran Normal. Her son, Thorleif, is enrolled as a student at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, and her daughter will continue her studies at Macalester College.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Winquist attended the county fair at Pequot.

Fred W. Schwanke, Gust Oberg, A. B. Taylor, Herbert Erickson and Oscar Swanson were hunting ducks. Miss Emma Greve is teaching at the Oreland district school.

Impressive baptismal services were held at Hamlet lake at which seven persons were baptized by Rev. Olaf Lind and 23 by Rev. J. G. Fouts.

Prof. Knuppel's band went to Emily Sunday on a booster trip for Crosby.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORY OF TODAY

This ought to be a good fish story which to close the season. Wednesday was Secretary O. J. Bouma's birthday, and his friend, Dan Lawrence, hid himself out to Gilbert lake to get a wily black bass as a birthday offering.

He got the bass, (a fine six pounder, by Dan's own word) which he put on a chain stringer and dragged behind the boat while he angled for a mess for his own table.

Not meeting with any success, he rowed back to the Holmes boat house and was about to show the proprietor the black beauty, but when the stringer was pulled up, there was nothing on it. Mr. Bass had taken his departure for parts unknown, taking about a foot of his tie chain with him.

Mr. Lawrence is still in a daze from the effects of his ill luck, and Bouma has decided that he will have to wait until another birthday rolls around before such a gift can be offered again.

Here is an oddity, a Brainerd oddest story contributed in verse:

This morn an auto passed me on the highway.

The auto didn't do me any harm,

Except a little trembling of the nerve cells

And under my starched collar slightly warm.

The trouble was it didn't sound the Klaxon

And I was partly turning to the left.

If wifie hadn't told me of their presence

The pieces might have been scattered yet.

I couldn't really call the man a road hog,

'Twas just a little breach of courtesy.

It might have been—it wasn't—let it rest there,

But next time think—I hope this line he'll see.

PLANS FOR EVERY BUILDING NEED

This is good building weather, and it won't last so many months. There is every reason why the prospective builder should take advantage not only of the good weather but of favorable conditions in the building industry. Supplies and labor are plentiful and can be purchased at as low a figure as in years to come.

Right now is the time to go over the plans we have on file here and select a home suited to your needs. You will find something, we are sure, that will be what you want and what you can afford to erect.

No matter what the building project may be, right now is the opportune time to proceed. Be it house, barn, granary, hog house, corn crib or shed we have plans here drawn that suggest the latest conveniences in the most approved styles of building.

he will stump the country in the fall election campaign in behalf of candidates who favor organized labor.

Mr. Gompers said he expected to set forth before the American public the reason why Attorney General H. M. Daugherty and Federal Judge Wilker-son of Chicago should be impeached. He said he expected to have the opportunity to appear before the house judiciary committee at Washington and give his testimony.

"American labor nonpartisan program is to be faithfully carried out," Mr. Gompers said. "I intend to stump over a large area this fall on behalf of the candidacy of men who are acceptable to our cause. I believe the time is opportune for labor to exert itself politically this fall and oust its enemies from the halls of congress."

BAFFLING MURDER BEING INVESTIGATED

(By United Press.)
New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 19.—The baffling murder of Rev. Edward Hall, millionaire Episcopal rector, and Mrs. James Mills, his sexton's wife, was brought up before the grand jury by Justice Parker.

Prosecutors and detectives of the county and secret service men of the state continued to probe the case today after the funeral of Mrs. Mills was held in an undertaker's establishment.

George Dienzer, high school boy who went to the farm near where the bodies were found, reported to authorities he had found a cheap lace edged handkerchief containing five bullet holes, apparently made with one shot.

BARROWS FARM BUREAU

Unit Holds Its Regular Meeting at Town Hall on Wednesday Evening, September 20th

The Crow Wing Farm Bureau Unit holds its regular meeting in the town hall at Barrows Wednesday evening, September 20th.

A special committee from this unit came to Brainerd Sunday for the express purpose of extending an invitation to Brainerd Business men and the different civic organizations to attend this meeting.

President W. A. Erickson, of the Lions club, is making plans to have the club attend in a body, going to Barrows directly after the weekly luncheon.

A very good program has been prepared and the Brainerd guests are promised a most enjoyable evening. Walter F. Wieland is expected to give a talk and the Knutt quartette from the Chamber of Commerce will furnish the music assisted by the Lions orchestra.

Business men will do well to avail themselves of opportunities such as this to meet with the farmers and get into closer touch with them. Mutual problems could be threshed out and a better understanding reached between merchant and farmer.

Ludke-Swanson

An out-of-town wedding of interest to Brainerd people was solemnized last Thursday noon at the parsonage of the Emanuel Lutheran church in St. Paul, in which Miss Mae Emilie Ludke of Amery, Wisconsin, became the bride of Dr. Edwin Oscar Swanson of St. Paul, formerly of this city.

The service was read by the Reverend Hugo Thorene, at one time pastor of the Clara Lutheran church of Brainerd. Immediately after the ceremony a dinner was served to the wedding party at the Saint Paul hotel.

The bride was attired in a midnight blue crepe-back satin gown, wearing a corsage of roses, lilies of the valley and lavender. The groom wore the conventional black.

Those present were Dr. J. A. Swanson, William Swanson, Miss Mabel Swanson, Mrs. Arvid Elmgreen, of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Swanson of Brainerd relatives of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, sister and brother-in-law of the bride.

After a short trip to the northern part of the state, Mr. and Mrs. Swanson will be at home in St. Paul, where the doctor enjoys a good practice.

REBEKAHS OBSERVE 77TH ANNIVERSARY

Great preparations are being made by Florence Rebekah Lodge for the celebration of the 77th anniversary of the founding of the order, on Wednesday evening of this week.

An excellent program has been arranged consisting of musical numbers and talks. O. J. Bouma will make the address of the evening.

Following the program light refreshments will be served, and the balance of the evening turned over to dancing.

The lodges at Ironton, Deerwood and Aitkin have been invited to attend and a big turnout is expected.

Florence Rebekah lodge went in force to Ironton Monday night, where the members participated in a similar celebration with the Ironton lodge. A very fine program and a most enjoyable evening was reported.

DEERWOOD

The August Elling farm at Farm Island Lake marketed a load of poultry in town.

Mrs. M. Ness has returned to Madison to resume her duties at the Lutheran Normal. Her son, Thorleif, is enrolled as a student at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, and her daughter will continue her studies at Macalester College.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Winquist attended the county fair at Pequot.

Fred W. Schwanke, Gust Oberg, A. B. Taylor, Herbert Erickson and Oscar Swanson were hunting ducks.

Miss Emma Greve is teaching at the Oreland district school.

Impressive baptismal services were held at Hamlet lake at which seven persons were baptized by Rev. Olaf Lind and 23 by Rev. J. G. Fouts.

Prof. Knuppel's band went to Emily Sunday on a booster trip for Crosby.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORY OF TODAY

This ought to be a good fish story which to close the season. Wednesday was Secretary O. J. Bouma's birthday, and his friend, Dan Lawrence, bled himself out to Gilbert lake to get a wily black bass as a birthday offering.

He got the bass, (a fine six pounder, by Dan's own word) which he put on a chain stringer and dragged behind the boat while he angled for a mess for his own table.

Not meeting with any success, he rowed back to the Holmes boat house and was about to show the proprietor the black beauty, but when the stringer was pulled up, there was nothing on it. Mr. Bass had taken his departure for parts unknown, taking about a foot of his tie chain with him.

Mr. Lawrence is still in a daze from the effects of his ill luck, and Bouma has decided that he will have to wait until another birthday rolls around before such a gift can be offered again.

Here is an oddity, a Brainerd oddest story contributed in verse:

This morn an auto passed me on the highway.

The auto didn't do me any harm,

Except a little trembling of the nerve cells

And under my starched collar slightly warm.

The trouble was it didn't sound the Klaxon

And I was partly turning to the left.

If wife hadn't told me of their presence

The pieces might have been scattered yet.

I couldn't really call the man a road hog,

'Twas just a little breach of courtesy.

It might have been—it wasn't—let it rest there.

But next time think—I hope this line he'll see.

PLANS FOR EVERY BUILDING NEED

This is good building weather, and it won't last so many months. There is every reason why the prospective builder should take advantage not only of the good weather but of favorable conditions in the building industry. Supplies and labor are plentiful and can be purchased at as low a figure as in years to come.

Right now is the time to go over the plans we have on file here and select a home suited to your needs. You will find something, we are sure, that will be what you want and what you can afford to erect.

No matter what the building project may be, right now is the opportune time to proceed. Be it house, barn, granary, hog house, corn crib or shed we have plans here drawn that suggest the latest conveniences in the most approved styles of building.

he will stump the country in the fall election campaign in behalf of candidates who favor organized labor.

Mr. Gompers said he expected to set forth before the American public the reason why Attorney General H. M. Daugherty and Federal Judge Wilkerson of Chicago should be impeached. He said he expected to have the opportunity to appear before the house judiciary committee at Washington and give his testimony.

"American labor nonpartisan program is to be faithfully carried out," Mr. Gompers said. "I intend to stump over a large area this fall on behalf of the candidacy of men who are acceptable to our cause. I believe the time is opportune for labor to exert itself politically this fall and oust its enemies from the halls of congress."

BAFFLING MURDER BEING INVESTIGATED

(By United Press.)
New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 19.—The baffling murder of Rev. Edward Hall, millionaire Episcopal rector, and Mrs. James Mills, his sexton's wife, was brought up before the grand jury by Justice Parker.

Prosecutors and detectives of the county and secret service men of the state continued to probe the case today after the funeral of Mrs. Mills was held in an undertaker's establishment.

George Dlenzer, high school boy who went to the farm near where the bodies were found, reported to authorities he had found a cheap lace edged handkerchief containing five bullet holes, apparently made with one shot.

THE MINIMUM WAGE

IT is not surprising that working girls in New York City have raised a howl over the figures of Miss Ethel M. Johnson, assistant commissioner for the minimum wage commission of Massachusetts, who has declared that $9 per week might be fixed as the minimum wage to be paid to working girls.

Out of this amount, $9 per week, seven dollars are to be allowed according to the figures of the statistician for food, and there will be left two dollars per week out of which the working girl must provide for herself necessary clothing and shelter.

An editor who is not thoroughly acquainted with the number and cost of a woman's garments, except through paying the bills which are passed on to him, may not be an expert in matters relating to what a woman wears, but the bills that are handed to him give him some idea of the amount of money required to suitably clothe his wife or daughter during a period of twelve months. And the little that he does know leads him to affirm that two dollars per week will not clothe and find shelter for a woman with the cost of these respective items at the present level.

There are those who compare wages today with wages twenty years ago, and after noting the much higher wage scale that obtains during these days are aggrieved that wage demands should remain so high and that workers refuse to accept reductions and are inclined to ask for more. But in considering the present wage bill these forget that while it is true that wages are much higher than they were years ago it is also true that the cost of living is away up on a much higher plane than it was in those years. The cost of food, clothing, rent, railroad fares, car fares, and almost everything else that one can think of has been increased during those years. And while an occasional employer may be ready to jump at such figures and, taking them as a fair minimum, may seek to reduce the wages of his women employees to that level; the employer who has a wife and provides the money to pay her bills for shelter and dress, knows only too well that two dollars per week will not provide these for either his own wife or daughter or for any other woman, even for a working woman, if health, comfort, and self-respect are to be made possible to the woman who is asked to find for herself clothing and shelter on such an income.

In dealing with such matters it is always well to ask such a question as this: Would my wife be afforded satisfactory shelter and comfortable and healthy clothing if her income was reduced by twenty or twenty-five per cent? If she would not, neither are others.

IN DEFENSE OF THE FLAPPER

It is interesting to note that women are springing to the defense of the flapper, for they are able to tell the world much more about what prompts a woman's actions than are even experts in applying the underlying principles of psychology to feminine extravaganzas.

The flapper is nothing more than a young woman who has broken loose from the restraints, traditions, and fashions of her ancestors. Because the binding hand of her parents and society has been lifted from her and she has ceased to accept the wishes of her elders as authoritative and controlling, she has started out to make her own rules of conduct and action according to her own untrammelled fancy.

Restricted and directed youth acts in the same way as the colt when he has been put in the mills after the bit has been inserted between his teeth. Then he acts in a quiet, controlled manner, because he knows the penalty he must pay if he acts otherwise; but out in the field when the harness is hanging in the barn, he lets himself go and, enjoying his freedom, gives notice by his striking heels that until he is again restrained he will act naturally as a colt may be expected to act. And who would gainsay the statement that he is acting in the most natural way when he is in the field. The lines that control him are a means of subjecting him to the will of his driver.

And there is no doubt whatever that many grandfathers would admit, and some grandmothers would not deny, that when they were freed from the restraints of their parents and elders and away from the ever-watchful eyes of their neighbors, they did the things unseen which, with the loosening of restraints, the youth of today are doing in the open. And there are many fathers and mothers who do not enforce a harsh discipline because they remember the way in which they were themselves required to toe the mark. The harshness of the discipline of the past has resulted in the lack of discipline in the present. And with sensible training in the present the flapper will be all right tomorrow, and when her children grow up they are likely to sit in judgment upon her as an old-fashioned representative of a passing day.

A WOMAN'S OPINION OF MRS. OLESEN

THE women of Minnesota are to have an equally important part in the election this year, and it is therefore a matter of interest to know how representative women consider the candidacy of Mrs. Olesen, says the St. Cloud Journal-Press. The following editorial from the Princeton Union was written by Miss Grace Dunn, one of the brilliant newspaper editors of the state:

Without Understanding

Anna Dickey Olesen has achieved quite a reputation as a public speaker. It is therefore only fair to assume that she was not up to her usual standard in her brief address at Edward Indrehus' farm on Tuesday afternoon. Possibly the criticisms of the press, mild as they were concerning some of her recent inaccurate statements, had so irritated her that she did not have her usual poise. But if Tuesday's afternoon performance was a fair sample of Anna's campaign oratory she has forfeited all claims to consideration from the press or from her political opponents.

It is disheartening to hear a woman who is aspiring to as high an office as that of United States senator resort to Mrs. Olesen's line of procedure. She devoted practically all her time to attacking Senator Kellogg's record, criticizing him for his action on matters of which she did not apparently have a clear understanding, charging him with working for the moneyed interest only, and even stooping to insinuate that he was elected six years ago because he had the money to conduct such an extensive publicity campaign that he was able to put himself over on the people.

It is almost incomprehensible to conceive of Mrs. Olesen deploring the arraying of class against class and still employing the tactics she used in attacking Frank Kellogg. Practically every criticism she made of his record would be effective only if it appealed to class prejudice. Her whole line of argument was that Frank Kellogg was not with the farmers and the common laboring people.

To those who have known the man and his untiring efforts to serve the people of his state and particularly the farmers, Mrs. Olesen's tirade was exceedingly exasperating. The most charitable assumption to be made was that she was speaking without a full knowledge of the facts and in the excitement of the campaign she has temporarily lost her sense of fair play.

THE PREACHER AS EXECUTIONER

REV. WINFRED F. ROBB, of Fort Madison, Iowa, sheriff of his county, received many letters from people in all parts of the country pleading with him to refuse to act as executioner at the hanging of Eugene Weeks last week. This was to be expected, and sentimental people would be easily inclined to the position that in springing the death trap resulting in the death of the accused, the minister was acting contrary to the best ideals of the Christian religion.

But there is another side to the question involved. The minister was also sheriff, and his oath of office required that he either spring the trap himself or have someone else do it. And this sheriff refused to pass the objectionable duty over to someone else. In performing this duty the minister-sheriff was fulfilling a demand of the law that the prisoner be hanged, and whether he did or did not actually spring the trap himself, did not affect his responsibility for the hanging.

This discussion has its value in bringing home to the consciousness of citizens that they are responsible for the hanging of criminals, having elected the legislators who, acting for them, passed the law imposing the penalty of capital punishment. The court or the sheriff or the hangman merely does what the citizens of the state direct through legislation.

THE cold days hint the approach of winter but the people of Minnesota refuse to take the hint. An Indian summer lies between.

ANOKA got angry because comedians poked fun at their good town. They might have laughed over the thought that the Twin Cities are made up of people from just such smaller towns.

ter the Dardanelle zone occupied by the allies, although claiming the right to occupy any territory occupied by the Greeks.

Thousands of Londoners, keyed up to a feverish point of excitement such as has not been seen since 1914, gathered in front of number 10 Downing street as the cabinet met.

Great activity prevailed throughout the island, although no special recruiting campaign has been started, yet great numbers of regiments have been warned to be ready. There was a hasty censorship slapped down on the announcement of movement of trains and troops of men.

In a statement, the truth of the dispatch carried yesterday by press associations other than the United Press that the entire Atlantic fleet was rushing to the aid of the Mediterranean was denied.

The admiralty stated that the Mediterranean force was large enough to cope with the Near East situation. A small portion of the Atlantic fleet, however, the destroyer flotilla, was reported from Gibraltar to be ready to join the Dardanelles force.

The war office continued to issue code orders for the concentration of the Tommies from ports of the Near East to Chanak, which commands the entrance to the neutral zone.

Following the cabinet meeting it was announced that in no wise will the Kemalists be permitted to cross the straits of the Dardanelles until peace terms are established.

The government, it is stated, is satisfied that any such move could be stopped by naval action alone.

Lloyd George left for the country this afternoon determined not to call another meeting of his war council until after Lord Curzon, foreign minister and Lord Beatty of the Admiralty return from their Paris mission.

Model Tax Law

Minneapolis, Sept. 19.—A model tax law, the result of five years research work, will be presented to the National Tax Association here this week.

The law includes a model state income tax law.

The association aims to secure legislation altering tax laws to equalize the burden of tax payers and to lower the tax burden on the home owners. Real estate is bearing an unduly heavy share of taxes, according to Frank L. Olson, head of the department of municipal research of the Civic and Commerce association, Minneapolis.

The model tax law has three main features, as drafted by the special committee. It taxes all physical property where it is located, taxes the income at the point where it is received and places a tax on business wherever that business is located.

The features would eliminate the duplication of taxes in different states or localities and would tend to apportion taxes so that the burden placed upon real estate would not be so heavy as in camp business, experts said.

The association will be in session at the Curtis hotel here until Saturday.

Charges Bank Wrecking

Towner, N. D., Sept. 19.—An examiner was here today to take testimony in a suit instituted to attach blame for the failure of the First National bank of this city to H. L. Beisecker, wealthy banker of Fessenden and formerly president of the bank.

The suit was brought by Mr. Gilbertson, the receiver, and will be heard in the federal court.

The First National bank caused consternation in business and farming circles here when it closed in December, 1920. It was considered one of the soundest and most conservative and was honored with the bulk of the patronage. Further sensations resulted with the arrest of H. H. Bergh, cashier, who is now serving a term in Leavenworth and indictment of H. L. Beisecker.

Mr. Bergh, prominent in community life here for years, pleaded guilty to some of the minor charges of the 36 counts on which he was indicted and was sentenced to one year and a day in the federal prison. He was originally accused of forging between forty to fifty thousand dollars worth of paper.

Mr. Beisecker was indicted on two counts charging him with having signed on two occasions the minutes of the directors meeting without having been present at such meetings.

Mr. Beisecker's case will be tried at the next federal court term in Jamestown. At the time of his arrest, he issued a statement declaring that in his 28 years of banking experience in this state he had not harmed or defrauded anyone and that "the charge was trivial," one "on which to humiliate and disgrace me."

The Insurance That Lapsed

A World War veteran died at the age of twenty-six in a Middle Western city a month ago leaving his widow and his baby son to face the world without funds. He had permitted his War Risk Insurance policy to lapse several months before his death and he had never renewed it.

The most poignant fact about this tragedy is the failure of this ex-service man to reinstate his insurance before his fatal illness and thus insure his family an estate of $10,000 which was the amount of the policy upon which he had paid premiums during the war.

He had been seriously ill for a year, suffering from a disease whose earliest symptoms had developed during his eighteen months in France. The regulations governing both War Risk term insurance and converted insurance provide that if a person is suffering with a disease or injury incurred in or aggravated by active military or naval service during the World War, he may reinstate his policy provided that he is not totally and permanently disabled, by the payment of all premiums in arrears, together with interest at the rate of 5 per cent per year compounded annually from the due date of each premium.

This provision, remember, applies to men who are suffering from disease or injury—men who would be refused new policies or reinstatement.

SKIN DISEASE

Many skin diseases such as acne, eczema, psoriasis, etc., are very unpleasant, but if the organs of elimination are working properly there will be no skin disease. If there is subluxation (displacement) of the vertebrae (small bones of the spine), causing nerve pressure and preventing the vital force from flowing freely to the kidneys, the latter will not function properly and the excretion will be thrown off by the pores of the skin, causing eczema and similar disorders. Because the binding hand of her parents and society has been lifted from her and she has ceased to accept the wishes of her elders as authoritative and controlling, she has started out to make her own rules of conduct and action according to her own untrammelled fancy.

Restricted and directed youth acts in the same way as the colt when he has been put in the fills after the bit has been inserted between his teeth. Then he acts in a quiet, controlled manner, because he knows the penalty he must pay if he acts otherwise; but out in the field when the harness is hanging in the barn, he lets himself go and, enjoying his freedom, gives notice by his striking heels that until he is again restrained he will act naturally as a colt may be expected to act. And who would gainsay the statement that he is acting in the most natural way when he is in the field. The lines that control him are a means of subjecting him to the will of his driver.

And there is no doubt whatever that many grandfathers would admit, and some grandmothers would not deny, that when they were freed from the restraints of their parents and elders and away from the ever-watchful eyes of their neighbors, they did the things unseen which, with the loosening of restraints, the youth of today are doing in the open. And there are many fathers and mothers who do not enforce a harsh discipline because they remember the way in which they were themselves required to toe the mark. The harshness of the discipline of the past has resulted in the lack of discipline in the present. And with sensible training in the present the flapper will be all right tomorrow, and when her children grow up they are likely to sit in judgment upon her as an old-fashioned representative of a passing day.

A WOMAN'S OPINION OF MRS. OLESEN

THE women of Minnesota are to have an equally important part in the election this year, and it is therefore a matter of interest to know how representative women consider the candidacy of Mrs. Olesen, says the St. Cloud Journal-Press. The following editorial from the Princeton Union was written by Miss Grace Dunn, one of the brilliant newspaper editors of the state:

Without Understanding

Anna Dickey Olesen has achieved quite a reputation as a public speaker. It is therefore only fair to assume that she was not up to her usual standard in her brief address at Edward Indrehus' farm on Tuesday afternoon. Possibly the criticisms of the press, mild as they were concerning some of her recent inaccurate statements, had so irritated her that she did not have her usual poise. But if Tuesday's afternoon performance was a fair sample of Anna's campaign oratory she has forfeited all claims to consideration from the press or from her political opponents.

It is disheartening to hear a woman who is aspiring to as high an office as that of United States senator resort to Mrs. Olesen's line of procedure. She devoted practically all her time to attacking Senator Kellogg's record, criticising him for his action on matters of which she did not apparently have a clear understanding, charging him with working for the moneyed interest only, and even stooping to insinuate that he was elected six years ago because he had the money to conduct such an extensive publicity campaign that he was able to put himself over on the people.

It is almost incomprehensible to conceive of Mrs. Olesen deploring the array of class against class and still employing the tactics she used in attacking Frank Kellogg. Practically every criticism she made of his record would be effective only if it appealed to class prejudice. Her whole line of argument was that Frank Kellogg was not with the farmers and the common laboring people.

To those who have known the man and his untiring efforts to serve the people of his state and particularly the farmers, Mrs. Olesen's tirade was exceedingly exasperating. The most charitable assumption to be made was that she was speaking without a full knowledge of the facts and in the excitement of the campaign she has temporarily lost her sense of fair play.

THE PREACHER AS EXECUTIONER

REV. WINFRED F. ROBB, of Fort Madison, Iowa, sheriff of his county, received many letters from people in all parts of the country pleading with him to refuse to act as executioner at the hanging of Eugene Weeks last week. This was to be expected, and sentimental people would be easily inclined to the position that in springing the death trap resulting in the death of the accused, the minister was acting contrary to the best ideals of the Christian religion.

But there is another side to the question involved. The minister was also sheriff, and his oath of office required that he either spring the trap himself or have someone else do it. And this sheriff refused to pass the objectionable duty over to someone else. In performing this duty the minister-sheriff was fulfilling a demand of the law that the prisoner be hanged, and whether he did or did not actually spring the trap himself, did not affect his responsibility for the hanging.

This discussion has its value in bringing home to the consciousness of citizens that they are responsible for the hanging of criminals, having elected the legislators who, acting for them, passed the law imposing the penalty of capital punishment. The court or the sheriff or the hangman merely does what the citizens of the state direct through legislation.

THE cold days hint the approach of winter but the people of Minnesota refuse to take the hint. An Indian summer lies between.

ter the Dardanelle zone occupied by the allies, although claiming the right to occupy any territory occupied by the Greeks.

Thousands of Londoners, keyed up to a feverish point of excitement such as has not been seen since 1914, gathered in front of number 10 Downing street as the cabinet met.

Great activity prevailed throughout the island, although no special recruiting campaign has been started, yet great numbers of regiments have been warned to be ready.

There was a hasty censorship slapped down on the announcement of movement of trains and troops of men.

In a statement, the truth of the dispatch carried yesterday by press associations other than the United Press that the entire Atlantic fleet was rushing to the aid of the Mediterranean was denied.

The admiralty stated that the Mediterranean force was large enough to cope with the Near East situation. A small portion of the Atlantic fleet, however, the destroyer flotilla, was reported from Gibraltar to be ready to join the Dardanelles force.

The war office continued to issue code orders for the concentration of the Tommies from ports of the Near East to Chanok, which commands the entrance to the neutral zone.

Following the cabinet meeting it was announced that in no wise will the Kemalists be permitted to cross the straits of the Dardanelles until peace terms are established.

The government, it is stated, is satisfied that any such move could be stopped by naval action alone.

Lloyd George left for the country this afternoon determined not to call another meeting of his war council until after Lord Curzon, foreign minister and Lord Beatty of the Admiralty return from their Paris mission.

Charges Bank Wrecking

Towner, N. D., Sept. 19.—An examiner was here today to take testimony in a suit instituted to attach blame for the failure of the First National bank of this city to H. L. Beisecker, wealthy banker of Fessenden and formerly president of the bank. The suit was brought by Mr. Gilbertson, the receiver, and will be heard in the federal court.

The First National bank caused consternation in business and farming circles here when it closed in December, 1920. It was considered one of the soundest and most conservative and was honored with the bulk of the patronage. Further sensations resulted with the arrest of H. H. Bergh, cashier, who is now serving a term in Leavenworth and indictment of H. L. Beisecker.

Mr. Bergh, prominent in community life here for years, pleaded guilty to some of the minor charges of the 36 counts on which he was indicted and was sentenced to one year and a

Model Tax Law

Minneapolis, Sept. 19.—A model tax law, the result of five years research work, will be presented to the National Tax Association here this week.

The law includes a model state income tax law.

The association aims to secure legislation altering tax laws to equalize the burden of tax payers and to lower the tax burden on the home owners. Real estate is bearing an unduly heavy share of taxes, according to Frank L. Olson, head of the department of municipal research of the Civic and Commerce association, Minneapolis.

The model tax law has three main features, as drafted by the special committee. It taxes all physical property in the federal prison. He was originally accused of forging between forty to fifty thousand dollars worth of paper.

Mr. Beisecker was indicted on two counts charging him with having signed on two occasions the minutes of the directors meeting without having been present at such meetings.

Mr. Beisecker's case will be tried at the next federal court term in Jamestown. At the time of his arrest, he issued a statement declaring that in his 28 years of banking experience in this state he had not harmed or defrauded anyone and that "the charge was trivial," one "on which to humiliate and disgrace me."

The Insurance That Lapsed

A World War veteran died at the age of twenty-six in a Middle Western city a month ago leaving his widow and his baby son to face the world without funds. He had permitted his War Risk Insurance policy to lapse several months before his death and he had never renewed it.

The most poignant fact about this tragedy is the failure of this ex-service man to reinstate his insurance before his fatal illness and thus insure his family an estate of $10,000 which was the amount of the policy upon which he had paid premiums during the war.

He had been seriously ill for a year, suffering from a disease whose earliest symptoms had developed during his eighteen months in France. The regulations governing both War Risk term insurance and converted insurance provide that if a person is suffering with a disease or injury incurred in or aggravated by active military or naval service during the World War, he may reinstate his policy provided that he is not totally and permanently disabled, by the payment of all premiums in arrears, together with interest at the rate of 5 per cent per year compounded annually from the due date of each premium.

This provision, remember, applies to men who are suffering from disease or injury—men who would be refused new policies or reinstatement.

ments of term or converted insurance may not be made after a man is totally and permanently disabled. Men in good health are not required to pay up all back premiums—they need only pay premiums covering two months to have their insurance reinstated.

Ordinary prudence dictates the necessity of every ex-service man knowing just what his government insurance rights are. Six hundred thousand veterans are now carrying government policies. How many of the remaining 4,000,000 were carrying policies but let them lapse, are familiar with their own rights?

If any ex-service man has permitted his insurance to lapse, he should immediately get in touch with the Service Officer of his Legion Post or write direct to the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, C. D. Hibbard, District Manager, Minneapolis, Minn. and find out just the conditions on which his insurance can be reinstated.

SKIN DISEASE

Many skin diseases such as acne, eczema, psoriasis, etc., are very unpleasant, but if the organs of elimination are working properly there will be no skin disease. If there is subluxation (displacement) of the vertebrae (small bones of the spine), causing nerve pressure and preventing the vital force from flowing freely to the kidneys, the latter will not function properly and the excretion will be thrown off by the pores of the skin, causing eczema and similar disorders. TRY CHIROPRACTIC VERTEBRAL ADJUSTMENTS for skin trouble and keep your eliminatory organs "up to par."

COUNTY FAIR YIELDS PROFIT

Gain of Between $400 and $500 Reported This Year, in Contrast to Former Year Losses

REMARKABLE SHOWING MADE
Directors of Crow Wing County Agricultural Association Deeply Grateful for Support

The Crow Wing County fair was put on this year and operated at a gain of between four and five hundred dollars, in contrast to a loss of about this amount in former years.

This is quite a remarkable showing, taking into account the fact that there is a strike on in Brainerd, and that the county fairs in neighboring counties, such as Aitkin, Cass, Wadena and Todd, operated this year at a loss, in most cases amounting to over one thousand dollars.

The directors of the Crow Wing County Agricultural Association feel deeply grateful for the support the people in this county have given them this year. A great deal of time and effort were put into the work of making the fair a big success, and that the people of the county responded is proven by the fact that for the first time in a number of years the association is able to show a gain on its books.

Many Good Flocks in the County Which Should Furnish Material in Plenty This Winter

There will be a meeting of the Crow Wing County Poultry Association in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Sunday afternoon, September 24th at 3 p. m. to make arrangements for the annual poultry show to be held Friday and Saturday, December 1st and 2nd.

This year's show will no doubt be much larger as indicated by the increased interest shown by poultry men of the county and by the unusually good poultry exhibit at the county fair.

There are a number of very good flocks in this county, which should furnish material plenty for a record-breaking show this winter. Brainerd alone, has several prize-winning flocks and should contribute a large exhibit to the show.

President Samuel T. Hawkins has called the Sunday meeting early in the season in order that no detail in the arrangements will be overlooked. Poultry owners are asked to attend this meeting and do all in their power to make the show a big success.

The bride was attired in dark blue silk canton-crepe and Spanish lace with hat to match and a corsage of white opelia roses.

The bridesmaid wore a blue canton-crepe with hat to match and a corsage of pink roses.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Myrtle Shello assisting in serving. The rooms were decorated with pink carnations and smilax.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Lystad, having been born and raised in Brainerd, and has for the past two years been clerk at the Brainerd State bank.

The groom is a traveling salesman for Kuhl & Stock Co. of St. Paul. The happy couple motored to Minneapolis where they will make their future home.

FOR ATTENDANCE AT DAIRY SHOW

Meeting of Business Men and Farmers Called for Monday, October 2 at Farmers Room

IN THE NEW COURT HOUSE
Strive to Interest Them in National Dairy Show at State Fair Grounds October 7 to 14

A meeting of business men and farmers has been called for Monday, October 2, in the farmers room at the court house, to make plans for securing a big attendance at the National Dairy Show to be held at the state fair grounds, October 7th to 14th.

At this meeting, P. M. Zakariasen, who has been appointed by Governor Preus to head the local dairy committee, will speak on the importance of the dairy industry in this section. Mr. Zakariasen has been most successful in dairy farming near Brainerd, and is in a position to further that industry with suggestions gained from his own experience.

As a state canner inspector, Mr. Zakariasen visited a number of canning factories in the state, and will tell of these visits at the dairy meeting, dwelling especially on the best sugar factory at Chaska. He has some interesting and valuable data on this industry.

County Agent E. G. Roth will also speak at this meeting on the raising of sugar beets in this territory in conjunction with dairying.

Conditions in this county are such that the dairy industry with a sideline such as sugar beet raising can be made most profitable and it should be the aim of business men to help the farmers in getting started in this line of work. It is hoped that there will be a big turnout at the meeting, October 2.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASS

One for Ladies and One for Men Is Formed at Chamber of Commerce For Term of 17 Weeks

A meeting was held Monday evening at the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of making plans for classes in Business Law and Public Speaking, which are given under the direction of the University of Minnesota Extension department.

The desire of the meeting seemed to favor only the class in Public Speaking, and it has been decided to conduct two classes in this course, and giving up the class in Business Law. As the matter stands now, one of these classes in Public Speaking will be for ladies, the other for men.

These classes will meet one evening each week for a period of seventeen weeks, the first meeting being on Friday, September 29th.

All who wish to sign up for these classes and were not present on Monday evening, are requested to see V. L. Hitch, Henry Hoffman, Mrs. Rose Powell or Miss Eula Michael.

The University is offering an excellent opportunity to Brainerd people in putting on these classes, and it is hoped that a great many will take advantage of it. Public speaking is recognized as being a necessary adjunct in both public and private life, either in a business way or socially, and the time required to learn it is sure to be well spent.

HARVEST FESTIVAL CHAMBER COMMERCE

Elaborate Plans Being Made for Evening's Entertainment on Wednesday, Sept. 27

CLUB DINNER AT 6:15 P. M.
H. W. Adams, Instructor of Dunwoody Institute, to Outline Plans for Auto-Tractor School

The next regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday evening, Sept. 27, will be in the nature of a harvest festival, and elaborate plans are being made for the evening's entertainment. Chairman George Love, of the house and social committee has turned the work of this evening over to his first assistant, E. W. Wise, and it is expected that some mighty interesting festivities will result.

One of the club's famous dinner will start the program at 6:15 o'clock and the menu as planned will tickle the palates of all.

During the supper hour and immediately following there will be a harvest festival program, but of what it consists is being kept a secret.

Later in the evening, the regular business meeting of the Chamber will be held. H. W. Adams, an instructor in the Tractor School of the Dunwoody Institute, will be present and outline plans for an auto and tractor school for Brainerd. There will also be other important matters brought to the attention of the meeting, and a large attendance is desired.

The women find our dress coats not only an article for warmth but a garment giving distinctiveness to the wearer. Yes, they are priced most reasonably.

Attractive Dresses

Since suits have not been so much in favor the one-piece dress has had a wonderful popularity. And it merits it for what is more practical?

Dresses this season are made, for the most part, of Perie Twills and Tricotines. These materials not only insure service but they make a very "distinguished" garment. That is, they tailor so beautifully that they need but little trimming to complete them.

One of the attractive features of our dresses is the garments for little women.

Paul, has an article in the preface which should interest all business men, and brings out some facts which will start them thinking.

This article is entitled, "Farm Trade is the Big Business of Every Minnesota City" and is as follows:

When you study marketing in Minnesota, you realize that the larger cities depend on the farmers for a much greater per cent of their trade than is commonly supposed.

It took a crisis like that of 1920-1921 to make many people realize the value of good cows and co-operative creameries as business stabilizers.

In spite of the crash, Minnesota

cows went right on producing an average of $1,500,000 in new wealth each week.

And their owners collected in cash once or twice a month or oftener.

Cows and cash registers work together. Ninety cents of every dollar received for butter by the co-operative creamery go to the farm owner.

Most of this money circulates through the tills of Minnesota merchants to jobbers, distributors and manufacturers, thus stimulating business all along the line.

that merchants in the dairy sections do a good business every year. Merchants and bankers should compare their communities with others. If your territory is backward, it is up to you as a progressive leader to start things going. Your own business will pay you back for your time and efforts.

Hook up your window displays, and your local newspaper advertising, so that the farmers of your territory will know where to come. This is the easy way, the logical way, one that is adding dollars to the bank accounts of Minnesota's most progressive merchants.

What is an Ideal Investment?

It is better to maintain your surplus funds in idleness provided they are deposited in a safe place than to take chances in an effort to earn big interest.

But our Certificates of Deposit offer you both safety and liberal interest. No excuse therefore for idle funds. Ask us about our Certificates of Deposit.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASS

One for Ladies and One For Men Is Formed at Chamber of Commerce For Term of 17 Weeks

A meeting was held Monday evening at the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of making plans for classes in Business Law and Public Speaking, which are given under the direction of the University of Minnesota Extension department.

The desire of the meeting seemed to favor only the class in Public Speaking, and it has been decided to conduct two classes in this course, and giving up the class in Business Law. As the matter stands now, one of these classes in Public Speaking will be for ladies, the other for men.

These classes will meet one evening each week for a period of seventeen weeks, the first meeting being on Friday, September 29th.

All who wish to sign up for these classes and were not present on Monday evening, are requested to see V. L. Hitch, Henry Hoffman, Mrs. Rose Powell or Miss Eula Michael.

The University is offering an excellent opportunity to Brainerd people in putting on these classes, and it is hoped that a great many will take advantage of it. Public speaking is recognized as being a necessary adjunct in both public and private life, either in a business way or socially, and the time required to learn it is sure to be well spent.

First Baptist Aid

The Ladies Aid of the First Baptist church will be entertained by Mrs. Henry Graham at her home at 37 West Bluff avenue, Wednesday afternoon.

All members are urged to be present by 3 o'clock. Visitors are welcome.

HARVEST FESTIVAL CHAMBER COMMERCE

Elaborate Plans Being Made for Evening's Entertainment on Wednesday, Sept. 27

CLUB DINNER AT 6:15 P. M.
H. W. Adams, Instructor of Dunwoody Institute, to Outline Plans for Auto-Tractor School

The next regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday evening, Sept. 27, will be in the nature of a harvest festival, and elaborate plans are being made for the evening's entertainment. Chairman George Lowe, of the house and social committee has turned the work of this evening over to his first assistant, E. W. Wise, and it is expected that some mighty interesting festivities will result.

One of the club's famous dinner will start the program at 6:15 o'clock and the menu as planned will tickle the palates of all.

During the supper hour and immediately following there will be a harvest festival program, but of what it consists is being kept a secret.

Later in the evening, the regular business meeting of the Chamber will be held. H. W. Adams, an instructor in the Tractor School of the Dunwoody Institute, will be present and outline plans for an auto and tractor school for Brainerd. There will also be other important matters brought to the attention of the meeting, and a large attendance is desired.

"EF THE WORLD BUSTS THROUGH"

Title of Address of Mrs. Rose M. Powell of Detroit, Mich., at Parent-Teachers Council

TUESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 26TH

Educators in the East Have Been Very Appreciative of Mrs. Powell, Praising Her Highly

"Ef the World Busts Through", with due acknowledgement to James Whitcomb Riley, will be the subject of Mrs. Rose M. Powell's address at the Parent-Teachers Council meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, September 26, at 8 o'clock at the Brainerd high school assembly room.

Mrs. Powell is from Detroit, Michigan, and educators of the east speak very highly of her and have been very appreciative in their recommendations. She has the ability to present her arguments in convincing manner, graphically and lucidly and stirs people to think and to act.

First Congregational Aid

The Ladies Aid of the First Congregational church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the social rooms of the church. This is the annual meeting, and the election of officers, and will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

Members are asked to be on time and come prepared to pay the annual dues.

Mrs. A. E. Losey, Miss S. Robinson and Mrs. C. B. Stickney will entertain.

FARM TRADE IS VALUABLE TO CITY

After All, Most People Buy Most Where They are Best Served

If people do not buy from us we know that our service either is not known, or that we have failed to serve them as well as some other store.

That is an axiom of storekeeping.

And so we strive to give best service every day and make each new day better than the day before. We expect to win and hold our customers because our goods and service deserve their patronage.

Beautiful Coats

Imagine how pleasant it is for us to have our friends come in, try on our new coats and then express themselves so heartily about the beauty of them. This is the approval we seek and it is the approval we have had. The girls are loud in their praise of our Mannish coats.

How they do like them.

The women find our dress coats not only an article for warmth but a garment giving distinctiveness to the wearer. Yes, they are priced most reasonably.

Attractive Dresses

Since suits have not been so much in favor the one-piece dress has had a wonderful popularity. And it merits it for what is more practical?

Dresses this season are made, for the most part, of Poriet Twills and Tricotines. These materials not only insure service but they make a very "distinguished" garment. That is, they tailor so beautifully that they need but little trimming to complete them.

One of the attractive features of our dresses is the garments for little women.

We have Some Excellent Bargains For Those Desiring Oxfords

Our high grade calf and kid oxfords were received a little late for the spring selling. And too, many demanded patent leather for summer wear, but fall is coming and these splendid high grade shoes will be much in demand. They are just right for fall wear. Think of buying these high grade oxfords for $5.95 the pair. At least spend a few moments seeing them.

Children's Oxfords $1.98

Just 21 pairs of kid and patent leather oxfords for children, sizes 11 to 2. Have been $5.00 the pair. To close, your choice, the pair $1.98

Misses Slippers

Misses' strapless gun metal slippers for hard wear. Sizes 3½ to 6. These, too, are high grade slippers. To close the lot the price, the pair $1.98

H. F. Michael Co.

Paul, has an article in the preface which should interest all business men, and brings out some facts which will start them thinking.

This article is entitled, "Farm Trade is the Big Business of Every Minnesota City" and is as follows:

When you study marketing in Minnesota, you realize that the larger cities depend on the farmers for a much greater per cent of their trade than is commonly supposed.

It took a crisis like that of 1920-1921 to make many people realize the value of good cows and co-operative creameries as business stabilizers.

In spite of the crash, Minnesota

cows went right on producing an average of $1,500,000 in new wealth each week.

And their owners collected in cash once or twice a month or oftener.

Cows and cash registers work together. Ninety cents of every dollar received for butter by the cooperative creamery go to the farm owner.

Most of this money circulates through the tills of Minnesota merchants to jobbers, distributors and manufacturers, thus stimulating business all along the line.

You will now understand why it is that merchants in the dairy sections do a good business every year. Merchants and bankers should compare their communities with others. If your territory is backward, it is up to you as a progressive leader to start things going. Your own business will pay you back for your time and efforts.

Hook up your window displays, and your local newspaper advertising, so that the farmers of your territory will know where to come. This is the easy way, the logical way, one that is adding dollars to the bank accounts of Minnesota's most progressive merchants.

STRENGTH SERVICE

What is an Ideal Investment?

It is better to maintain your surplus funds in idleness provided they are deposited in a safe place than to take chances in an effort to earn big interest.

But our Certificates of Deposit offer you both safety and liberal interest. No excuse therefore for idle funds. Ask us about our Certificates of Deposit.

FANNING WITH ARRELL

NO WORLD TENNIS CHAMPION

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 19.—No world's championship is recognized in tennis because the United States and England never have been able to agree on a tournament for the title.

England now maintains that the British championships at Wimbledon carry the world's championship, but the United States will not admit it. Even when William T. Tilden won twice at Wimbledon, the United States would not recognize him as the official world's champion.

The trouble was caused by the action of the British association and the International Tennis Federation in awarding the world's championship in perpetuity to Wimbledon.

The United States has maintained that the championships should be alternated, so that America should get to see some of the world's tournaments and at the same time should not be forced to carry the financial burden of sending players every year to England.

Some conferences are to be held this winter and it is almost sure that the difficulties will be patched and that the United States will agree to enter the International Federation.

Pressure has been brought to bear by the English public to allow the championships to alternate between England and the United States.

Other suggestions also have been made. The United States is said to favor a plan whereby the title would be defended in the home country of the champions. European nations would object to this, no doubt, because America looks to be in for a long reign of supremacy on the courts.

Gerald Patterson, captain and veteran member of the Australian Davis Cup team suggests that the tournament for the world's championship be played in the country where the Davis Cup is being defended. This looks like it might be another monopoly for the United States on the same grounds.

Tennis is becoming such a great sport that the officials of the game recognize the need of universal, standard rules with the supervision of an international committee. If the United States would join the international federation it could be brought about.

Some changes also may be made this winter in the Davis Cup rules. Some criticism was made this year over the method of deciding where the preliminary rounds are to be played. Where there is too much traveling involved, the smaller nations have to default when they are called upon to raise the big fund to foot the bills.

One of the British authorities, pointing out the tremendous expense that some countries face in getting a team through the preliminaries, suggested that the cup be contested for only once in three or four years.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Right to Love" at the Lyceum

The same quartet of film celebrities who made "On With the Dance" such a splendid success combined to make "The Right to Love," which is the screen attraction at the Lyceum theatre tonight.

George Fitzmaurice produced the picture; Ouida Bergere furnished the scenario, and Mae Murray and David Powell are the featured players.

The picture is a pleasing combination of beautiful scenes and dramatic action. The locale is Turkey and the heroine, played by Miss Murray, is the wife of Lord Falkland, English representative there. Falkland plays fast and loose with another woman and the result is a clash, in which Richard Loring, a young American, slays the dissolute lord. By a clever twist the action is given a happy ending.

Helen Chadwick in "Dangerous Curve Ahead"

Helene Chadwick, called the most photographed girl on the American stage, will return to her previous habit of wearing beautiful gowns in "Dangerous Curve Ahead," a Rupert Hughes comedy. Recently Miss Chadwick has departed from her customary mode of dressing, because she has been playing in such photo-plays as necessitated outdoor and sports garments. In this delightful Goldwyn comedy, coming to the Lyceum theatre for Wednesday and Thursday, Miss Chadwick is seen again in the lovely evening, dinner and ball gowns which she wears with such grace, and which earned her the reputation of being the country's most photographed actress.

PLETHORA OF ACCIDENTS MONDAY

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 19.—Accidents yesterday caused the death of seven persons and seven others suffered injuries in the Twin Cities and the northwest parts of the state.

Four of one family met death in an automobile which was crushed under a freight train at Moorhead. Two men were killed in two accidents in Minneapolis, and a St. Paul man lost his life in a collision near Albany, Minnesota.

The Mutt Motorist

The following article was awarded first prize in a recent "Knockers' contest," conducted by a Syracuse newspaper:

I knock the mutt motorist.
He leaves the curb without signaling—stops suddenly in traffic without warning.
He uses his horn instead of his brakes in a street filled with playing children.
He steals places in traffic and "cuts in" regardless.
Overtakes and passes another car near the brow of a hill, or on a curve.
Stops his car on a curve in the road without getting out of the roadway.
He hogs the road.
His lights are blinding, nor will he dim them—damn him.
He drives with a snoot full.
He is a curse—an abomination—an affliction to humanity.
I knock him.

Is Doubting Thomas No Longer

"All medicines and doctors for stomach trouble proved worthless in my case. Everybody recommended something else and nothing helped, so I became a doubting Thomas as to any cure. While in St. Louis a party praised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy so highly that I bought a bottle and I am now a doubting Thomas no longer." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and leading druggists.

crafts organizations, as a pretext for the action, he said.

He reiterated his statement that strike leaders have received "a line on the Northern Pacific at the Chicago meeting," though Charles Donnelly, president of the road, said in an advertisement published yesterday that no negotiations now are possible between the line and strikers.

His statement was subscribed to by the Minneapolis & St. Louis, Great Northern and Soo line officials, all of whom declare that there will be no further negotiations with strikers. Today all reported steady accessions of new workers and strikers returning to their jobs, and that their shops rapidly are drawing nearer normal.

Intermeyer Urges Impeachment

Washington, Sept. 19.—Institution of impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty in the senate in an attempt to secure immediate hearings, was urged by Samuel Intermeyer, noted New York attorney, in a telegram to Representative Keller, republican, Minnesota.

The action of the house judiciary committee in deferring hearings until December, Intermeyer declared, is equivalent to almost practical denial insofar as concerns enforcement of the anti-trust law which is his chief purpose in attempting to uncover the present situation.

Intermeyer was to have appeared today to prosecute charges against the attorney general based on his alleged failure to make prosecutions under the anti-trust statutes.

Representative Keller, author of the impeachment resolution, said three months' delay would make no change in opinion in connection with the proceedings.

Labor Wins Victory

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Railroad shopmen today renewed their fight against the Daugherty injunction, strengthened by their first victory in the legal battle.

Judge James H. Wilkerson ruled that practically one-third of the government's case was inadmissible evidence. Indications today were that the defense would occupy today and most of tomorrow in presenting its case.

The court indicated that it was disposed to dismiss the government bill for a temporary injunction, and also refused to strike out all of the government affidavits as evidence.

Donald Lieberman, attorney for the shopmen, led the argument when the court opened today.

As the injunction hearing drew to a close, peace on the railroads gained strength.

Several roads, notably the Southern and Monon, announced that an agreement was reached and the men would return to work shortly.

It was estimated that more than 50,000 men returned to work yesterday.

Bert M. Jewell, president of the shopcrafts, was in New York where he was to confer with the New York Central executives today.

Another Editor Arrested

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 19.—D. V. Saunders, editor of the "Memphis Press," was arrested late last night charged with violation of the Daugherty injunction against striking railroad shopmen.

Saunders was released and will give $1,000 bond today.

His arrest followed conviction of Jacob Cohen, editor of the "Labor Review" for contempt of court late yesterday. Cohen was found guilty of violation of the provisions of an injunction granted by Federal Judge J. W. Ross, prohibiting criticism of strike breakers, prior to the issue of the Daugherty injunction.

Claims Self Defense

Grand Forks, Sept. 19.—Thomas Mrachek, Great Northern guard, was today bound over to the district court on a charge of using dangerous weapons with the intent to kill.

Mrachek shot and seriously wounded Adolph Purpur, a striker, September 3 on the Great Northern right of way. He claims he shot in self defense.

Commented on Another Editor

Memphis, Sept. 19.—D. V. Saunders, editor of the "Memphis Press," is under arrest today charged with contempt of court. He was arrested late last night on a warrant charging contempt in publication of an editorial, alleged to have reflected on the dignity and integrity of the federal court.

Saunders' arrest followed publication of a editorial bearing the caption: "The King Forbid" commenting upon the arrest of Joseph Cohen, editor of the "Labor Review" on charge of contempt for printing an editorial denouncing strike-breakers as scabs and scavengers. The warrant for Saunders' arrest did not state whether the contempt charge was based on the Daugherty injunction or another injunction executed by Federal Judge J. W. Ross, prohibiting criticism of strikebreakers.

In his editorials Saunders attacked the Wilkerson and Ross injunctions.

Shop Force 77 1/2 Per Cent Normal

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Shop forces on the western roads are 77 1/2 per cent of normal, a report of the western executives association declared today.

The report stated that 122,415 are employed. It was pointed out that deducted from the total the men employed on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Monon and the Chicago & Northwestern. The three roads testify the Baltimore agreement shop forces were still 76 per cent of normal.

INDUSTRY LEAPS NEARER CAPACITY AS STRIKES END

Factories, Furnaces, Mines Resume; Rail Traffic Is Heavy

New York, Sept. 19.—Reports received in financial and business quarters indicate that the heavy industries are making a rather better recovery from the effects of the strikes than had been anticipated. Soft coal output is running close to 10,000,000 tons a week and supplies of the commodity are such that the steel industry, which falls in the lowest class of priority, now is receiving sufficient fuel to run at 60 per cent of capacity instead of the 50 per cent of two weeks ago.

More blast furnaces are being blown in and the trade expects all of August's losses in this respect to be made good presently. The limiting factor in steel works operations is now, in fact, not a shortage of fuel but a scarcity of the kind of freight cars needed to carry the industry's products.

Railroad Traffic Enormous
With soft coal mining in swing and with anthracite mining in the process of resumption, the railroads are carrying the largest amount of freight in nearly two years. Carloads for the week ending Sept. 2, totaled 932,000, an increase of 41,000 cars over the previous week.

Part of the gain is due to the accelerated movement of soft coal, nevertheless, the volume of general merchandise carried also has continued to gain.

The present traffic has been exceeded only during short periods in the autumn of 1920.

Car Shortage Imminent
Accordingly, it is not surprising to find that the supply of idle cars is reaching the vanishing point.

With partial settlements of the shopmen's strike, with gains in working forces reported on other roads, and with the equipment companies pushing their operations, the opinion is held in financial circles that the repair situation should improve gradually and that while a car shortage is inevitable, the railroads will move a very large portion of the freight offering during the fall.

Cotton Sales Increase
Cotton consumption is encouraging. August's takings by our domestic mills amounted to 527,000 bales, the largest in any month since June, 1920. The latest total is 69,000 bales greater than that in July. This was recorded before the recent restoration of previous wage scales went into effect.

Wheat Receipts Affect Prices
Wheat prices continue weak under the influence of crop receipts, hedge selling and the continuation of favorable weather. Official estimates place the Canadian crop at close to 400,000,000 bushels, a figure which indicates an exportable surplus of nearly 300,000,000 bushels. This showing naturally has its effect on the price of our own grain. A fair amount of foreign buying is taking place on the breaks, but this buying is not sufficiently strong to more than check the decline, and usually is followed by weakness in the foreign exchanges when the corresponding commercial bills are placed in the market.

HAWLEY MAN IN GUN ACCIDENT

Moorhead, Sept. 19.—Alex Erickson, 23, was brought to a hospital here from Hawley seriously injured when he accidentally discharged a gun.

N. Y. TIES, WINS GAME IN NINTH, DAVIS WEAKENS

AMERICAN LEAGUE LEADERS BELIEVED SURE OF PENNANT DESPITE TOUGH GAMES AHEAD

Sportsman Park, St. Louis, Sept. 19.—After holding a lead on the New York Americans, the Browns permitted the visitors to come from behind in the last inning and take yesterday's game, 3 to 2, thus increasing New York's lead to one and one-half games. The Browns' four errors figured in the visitor's three runs.

Up to the last inning the contest was a pitchers' battle with Davis of the Browns shading Bush, Davis weakened, however, in the ninth and the visitors took advantage of two hits and an error and scored the tying and winning runs.

Browns Start Scoring
The Browns scored the first run in the fifth inning on Jacobson's double. McManus' single and Severeld's sacrifice fly and added another in the seventh on Williams' double. Jacobson's sacrifice and McManus' double. The visitors made their first run in the eighth inning when Dugan, who had doubled, raced home as McManus threw over Sisler's head on Pipp's infield single. The tying and winning tallies came in the last inning.

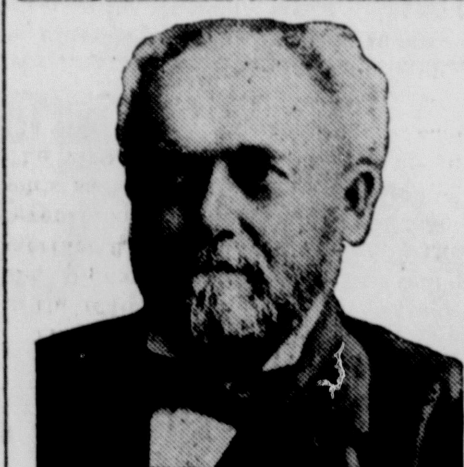

Schang reached first base on an infield hit and went to second on a passed ball. Smith was sent in to bat for Ward, but was removed in favor of McNally, when Pruett relieved Davis. McNally attempting to sacrifice, went to first as Severeld threw low to catch Schang on third. Scott walked and Schocker relieved Pruett. Bush forced Schang at the plate. Witt's single brought in McNally and Scott. Dugan hit into a double play, ending the rally. By taking yesterday's game the visitors also took the series, having won the first game Saturday. The Browns' only victory of the crucial series was due to Pruett's great pitching in Sunday's game. Having lost Monday's game the Browns now are conceded but little chance to win the pennant. Sports writers agree that this series would decide the pennant winner of the American league.

In yesterday's game safe hits were few on both sides, the visitors getting six, one more than the Browns. However, Bush had a better defense as his teammates played an errorless game, while the Browns made four errors, which figured in the three tallies of the visitors.

Sisler the Brown's first baseman, broke his string of hitting in consecutive games after getting at least one hit in 41 consecutive contests, this being a modern major league record. The previous modern record was made by Cobb, when he hit safely in 40 consecutive games in 1911.

Yank's Chances Look Good
Although the Browns are scheduled to meet the weakest teams of the league while the leaders will play Detroit and Cleveland, it is believed unlikely by followers of the national pastime that the Yankees will lose their lead of one and one-half games.

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity
The picture which appears here of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., was taken in 1910. As a young man Dr. Pierce practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He early moved to Buffalo and put up in ready-to-use form, his Golden Medical Discovery, the well-known tonic for the blood. This strength-builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective in diseases of the blood. It contains no alcohol and is an extract of native roots with the ingredients plainly stated on the wrapper. Good red blood, vim, vigor and vitality are sure to follow if you take this Alternative Extract. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. This Discovery corrects the disordered conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and purifies the blood. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., and receive confidential medical advice without charge. All druggists sell Discovery, tablets or liquid. Send 10c for trial package.

NO WORLD TENNIS CHAMPION

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 19.—No world's championship is recognized in tennis because the United States and England never have been able to agree on a tournament for the title.

England now maintains that the British championships at Wimbledon carry the world's championship, but the United States will not admit it. Even when William T. Tilden won twice at Wimbledon, the United States would not recognize him as the official world's champion.

The trouble was caused by the action of the British association and the International Tennis Federation in awarding the world's championship in perpetuity to Wimbledon.

The United States has maintained that the championships should be alternated, so that America should get to see some of the world's tournaments and at the same time should not be forced to carry the financial burden of sending players every year to England.

Some conferences are to be held this winter and it is almost sure that the difficulties will be patched and that the United States will agree to enter the International Federation.

Pressure has been brought to bear by the English public to allow the championships to alternate between England and the United States.

Other suggestions also have been made. The United States is said to favor a plan whereby the title would be defended in the home country of the champions. European nations would object to this, no doubt, because America looks to be in for a long reign of supremacy on the courts.

Gerald Patterson, captain and veteran member of the Australian Davis Cup team suggests that the tournament for the world's championship be played in the country where the Davis Cup is being defended. This looks like it might be another monopoly for the United States on the same grounds.

Tennis is becoming such a great sport that the officials of the game recognize the need of universal, standard rules with the supervision of an international committee. If the United States would join the international federation it could be brought about.

Some changes also may be made this winter in the Davis Cup rules. Some criticism was made this year over the method of deciding where the preliminary rounds are to be played. Where there is too much traveling involved, the smaller nations have to default when they are called upon to raise the big fund to foot the bills.

One of the British authorities, pointing out the tremendous expense that some countries face in getting a team through the preliminaries, suggested that the cup be contested for only once in three or four years.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Right to Love" at the Lyceum

The same quartet of film celebrities who made "On With the Dance" such a splendid success combined to make "The Right to Love," which is the screen attraction at the Lyceum theatre tonight.

George Fitzmaurice produced the picture; Ouida Bergere furnished the scenario, and Mae Murray and David Powell are the featured players.

The picture is a pleasing combination of beautiful scenes and dramatic action. The locale is Turkey and the heroine, played by Miss Murray, is the wife of Lord Falkland, English representative there. Falkland plays fast and loose with another woman and the result is a clash, in which Richard Loring, a young American, slays the dissolute lord. By a clever twist the action is given a happy ending.

Helen Chadwick in "Dangerous Curve Ahead"

Helene Chadwick, called the most photographed girl on the American stage, will return to her previous habit of wearing beautiful gowns in "Dangerous Curve Ahead," a Rupert Hughes comedy. Recently Miss Chadwick has departed from her customary mode of dressing, because she has been playing in such photographs as necessitated outdoor and sports garments. In this delightful Goldwyn comedy, coming to the Lyceum theatre for Wednesday and Thursday, Miss Chadwick is seen again in the lovely evening, dinner and ball gowns which she wears with such grace, and which earned her the reputation of being the country's most photographed actress

PLETHORA OF ACCIDENTS MONDAY

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 19.—Accidents yesterday caused the death of seven persons and seven others suffered injuries in the Twin Cities and the northwest parts of the state.

Four of one family met death in an automobile which was crushed under a freight train at Moorhead. Two men were killed in two accidents in Minneapolis, and a St. Paul man lost his life in a collision near Albany, Minnesota.

The Mutt Motorist

The following article was awarded first prize in a recent "Knockers' contest," conducted by a Syracuse newspaper:

I knock the mutt motorist. He leaves the curb without signaling—stops suddenly in traffic without warning.

He uses his horn instead of his brakes in a street filled with playing children.

He steals places in traffic and "cuts in" regardless.

Overtakes and passes another car near the brow of a hill, or on a curve. Stops his car on a curve in the road without getting out of the roadway.

He bogs the road.

His lights are blinding, nor will he dim them—damn him.

He drives with a snoot full.

He is a curse—an abomination—an affliction to humanity.

I knock him.

Is Doubting Thomas No Longer

"All medicines and doctors for stomach trouble proved worthless in my case. Everybody recommended something else and nothing helped, so I became a doubting Thomas as to any cure. While in St. Louis a party praised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy so highly that I bought a bottle and I am now a doubting Thomas no longer." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and leading druggists. Adv.

RAILWAY SHOPMEN RETURN TO JOBS IN TWIN CITY PLANTS

crafts organizations, as a pretext for the action, he said.

He reiterated his statement that strike leaders have received "a line on the Northern Pacific at the Chicago meeting," though Charles Donnelly, president of the road, said in an advertisement published yesterday that no negotiations now are possible between the line and strikers.

His statement was subscribed to by the Minneapolis & St. Louis, Great Northern and Soo line officials, all of whom declare that there will be no further negotiations with strikers. Today all reported steady accessions of new workers and strikers returning to their jobs, and that their shops rapidly are drawing nearer normal.

Untermeyer Urges Impeachment

Washington, Sept. 19.—Institution of impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty in the senate in an attempt to secure immediate hearings, was urged by Samuel Untermeyer, noted New York attorney, in a telegram to Representative Keller, republican, Minnesota.

The action of the house judiciary committee in deferring hearings until December, Untermeyer declared, is equivalent to almost practical denial insofar as concerns enforcement of the anti-trust law which is his chief purpose in attempting to uncover the present situation.

Untermeyer was to have appeared today to prosecute charges against the attorney general based on his alleged failure to make prosecutions under the anti-trust statutes.

Representative Keller, author of the impeachment resolution, said three months' delay would make no change in opinion in connection with the proceedings.

Labor Wins Victory

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Railroad shopmen today renewed their fight against the Daugherty injunction, strengthened by their first victory in the legal battle.

Judge James H. Wilkerson ruled that practically one-third of the government's case was inadmissible evidence. Indications today were that the defense would occupy today and most of tomorrow in presenting its case.

The court indicated that it was disposed to dismiss the government bill for a temporary injunction, and also refused to strike out all of the government affidavits as evidence.

Donald Richberg, attorney for the shopmen, led the argument when the court opened today.

As the injunction hearing drew to a close, peace on the railroads gained strength.

Several roads, notably the Southern and Monon, announced that an agreement was reached and the men would return to work shortly.

It was estimated that more than 50,000 men returned to work yesterday.

Bert M. Jewell, president of the shopcrafts, was in New York where he was to confer with the New York Central executives today.

Another Editor Arrested

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 19.—D. V. Saunders, editor of the "Memphis Press," was arrested late last night charged with violation of the Daugherty injunction against striking railroad shopmen.

Saunders was released and will give $1,000 bond today.

His arrest followed conviction of Jacob Cohen, editor of the "Labor Review" for contempt of court late yesterday. Cohen was found guilty of violation of the provisions of an injunction granted by Federal Judge J. W. Ross, prohibiting criticism of strike breakers, prior to the issue of the Daugherty injunction.

Claims Self Defense

Grand Forks, Sept. 19.—Thomas Mrachek, Great Northern guard, was today bound over to the district court on a charge of using dangerous weapons with the intent to kill.

Mrachek shot and seriously wounded Adolph Purpur, a striker, September 3 on the Great Northern right of way. He claims he shot in self defense.

Commented on Another Editor

Memphis, Sept. 19.—D. V. Saunders, editor of the "Memphis Press" is under arrest today charged with contempt of court. He was arrested late last night on a warrant charging contempt in publication of an editorial, alleged to have reflected on the dignity and integrity of the federal court.

Saunders' arrest followed publication of a editorial bearing the caption: "The King Forbid" commenting upon the arrest of Joseph Cohen, editor of the "Labor Review" on charge of contempt for printing an editorial denouncing strike-breakers as scabs and scavengers.

The warrant for Saunders' arrest did not state whether the contempt charge was based on the Daugherty injunction or another injunction executed by Federal Judge J. W. Ross, prohibiting criticism of strikebreakers.

In his editorials Saunders attacked the Wilkerson and Ross injunctions.

Shop Force 77 1/2 Per Cent Normal

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Shop forces on the western roads are 77 1/2 per cent of normal, a report of the western executives association declared today.

The report stated that 122,415 are employed. It was pointed out that deducted from the total the men employed on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Monon and the Chicago & Northwestern. The three roads testify the Baltimore agreement shop forces were still 76 per cent of normal.

INDUSTRY LEAPS NEARER CAPACITY AS STRIKES END

FACTORIES, FURNACES, MINES RESUME; RAIL TRAFFIC IS HEAVY

New York, Sept. 19.—Reports received in financial and business quarters indicate that the heavy industries are making a rather better recovery from the effects of the strikes than had been anticipated. Soft coal output is running close to 10,000,000 tons a week and supplies of the commodity are such that the steel industry, which falls in the lowest class of priority, now is receiving sufficient fuel to run at 60 per cent of capacity instead of the 50 per cent of two weeks ago.

More blast furnaces are being blown in and the trade expects all of August's losses in this respect to be made good presently. The limiting factor in steel works operations is now, in fact, not a shortage of fuel but a scarcity of the kind of freight cars needed to carry the industry's products.

Railroad Traffic Enormous

With soft coal mining in swing and with anthracite mining in the process of resumption, the railroads are carrying the largest amount of freight in nearly two years. Carloads for the week ending Sept. 2, totaled 932,000, an increase of 41,000 cars over the previous week.

Part of the gain is due to the accelerated movement of soft coal, nevertheless, the volume of general merchandise carried also has continued to gain.

The present traffic has been exceeded only during short periods in the autumn of 1920.

Car Shortage Imminent

Accordingly, it is not surprising to find that the supply of idle cars is reaching the vanishing point.

With partial settlements of the shopmen's strike, with gains in working forces reported on other roads, and with the equipment companies pushing their operations, the opinion is held in financial circles that the repair situation should improve gradually and that while a car shortage is inevitable, the railroads will move a very large portion of the freight offering during the fall.

Cotton Sales Increase

Cotton consumption is encouraging. August's takings by our domestic mills amounted to 527,000 bales, the largest in any month since June, 1920. The latest total is 69,000 bales greater than that in July. This was recorded before the recent restoration of previous wage scales went into effect.

Wheat Receipts Affect Prices
Wheat prices continue weak under the influence of crop receipts, hedge selling and the continuation of favorable weather. Official estimates place the Canadian crop at close to 400,000,000 bushels, a figure which indicates an exportable surplus of nearly 300,000,000 bushels. This showing naturally has its effect on the price of our own grain.

A fair amount of foreign buying is taking place on the breaks, but this buying is not sufficiently strong to more than check the decline, and usually is followed by weakness in the foreign exchanges when the corresponding commercial bills are placed in the market.

HAWLEY MAN IN GUN ACCIDENT

(By United Press.)

Moorhead, Sept. 19.—Alex Erickson, 23, was brought to a hospital here from Hawley seriously injured when he accidentally discharged a gun.

N. Y. TIES, WINS GAME IN NINTH, DAVIS WEAKENS

AMERICAN LEAGUE LEADERS BELIEVE SURE OF PENNANT DESPITE TOUGH GAMES AHEAD

Sportsman Park, St. Louis, Sept. 19.—After holding a lead on the New York Americans, the Browns permitted the visitors to come from behind in the last inning and take yesterday's game, 3 to 2, thus increasing New York's lead to one and one-half games. The Browns' four errors figured in the visitor's three runs.

Up to the last inning the contest was a pitchers' battle with Davis of the Browns shading Bush. Davis weakened, however, in the ninth and the visitors took advantage of two hits and an error and scored the tying and winning runs.

Browns Start Scoring

The Browns scored the first run in the fifth inning on Jacobson's double, McManus' single and Severid's sacrifice fly and added another in the seventh on Williams' double, Jacobson's sacrifice and McManus' double. The visitors made their first run in the eighth inning when Dugan, who had doubled, raced home as McManus threw over Sisler's head on Pipp's infield single. The tying and winning tallies came in the last inning.

Schang reached first base on a infield hit and went to second on a passed ball. Smith was sent in to bat for Ward, but was removed in favor of McNally, when Pruett relieved Davis. McNally attempting to sacrifice, went to first as Severid threw low to catch Schang on third. Scott walked and Schocker relieved Pruett. Bush forced Schang at the plate. Witt's single brought in McNally and Scott. Dugan hit into a double play, ending the rally. By taking yesterday's game the visitors also took the series, having won the first game Saturday. The Browns' only victory of the crucial series was due to Pruett's great pitching in Sunday's game. Having lost Monday's game the Browns now are conceded but little chance to win the pennant. Sports writers agree that this series would decide the pennant winner of the American league.

In yesterday's game safe hits were few on both sides, the visitors getting six, one more than the Browns. However, Bush had a better defense as his teammates played an errorless game, while the Browns made four errors, which figured in the three tallies of the visitors.

Sisler the Browns' first baseman, broke his string of hitting in consecutive games after getting at least one hit in 41 consecutive contests, this being a modern major league record. The previous modern record was made by Cobb, when he hit safely in 40 consecutive games in 1911.

Yank's Chances Look Good

Although the Browns are scheduled to meet the weakest teams of the league while the leaders will play Detroit and Cleveland, it is believed unlikely by followers of the national pastime that the Yankees will lose their lead of one and one-half games.

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity

The picture which appears here of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., was taken in 1910. As a young man Dr. Pierce practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He early moved to Buffalo and put up in ready-to-use form, his Golden Medical Discovery, the well-known tonic for the blood. This strength-builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective in diseases of the blood. It contains no alcohol and is an extract of native roots with the ingredients plainly stated on the wrapper. Good red blood, vim, vigor and vitality are sure to follow if you take this Alterative Extract. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. This Discovery corrects the disordered conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and purifies the blood. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., and receive confidential medical advice without charge. All druggists sell Discovery, tablets or liquid. Send 10c for trial package.
